Diane Dear —

It has really been swell knowing you and I really owe a lot to you for all your kind thoughts and answers in Economics Class — Really, Diane, I have really enjoyed it in home room with you and waited all four years for a date, but some of us are just unlucky. I wish you and Dave all the luck in the world and don't forget to invite me & Joan to your wedding O.K!

Well, I be around to collect my graduation kiss — until then —

THE 1953 LEGEND

NORTH SIDE HIGH SCHOOL

FORT WAYNE, INDIANA

AND THE VOICE IS FAMILAR . . .

Through the hallways and classrooms, the voice of North Side echoes 1953. As it resounds in our memories, we recall all the incidents that have given this year importance, and we realize that the voice will always be a part of us. We have all helped start North Side on another quarter century of her life, and we are responsible for many improvements. She in turn has helped us to grow up, to get along with each other, and to live happy lives as young men and women. Some of our number have been outstanding in many fields, some of us have just been average, but each of us will leave the Teepee knowing that we are better people for having been here. The voice will always be in the back of our minds, reminding us that we are Redskins, and must always live up to our code. We have been the voice of North Side; some day we will be the voice of America.

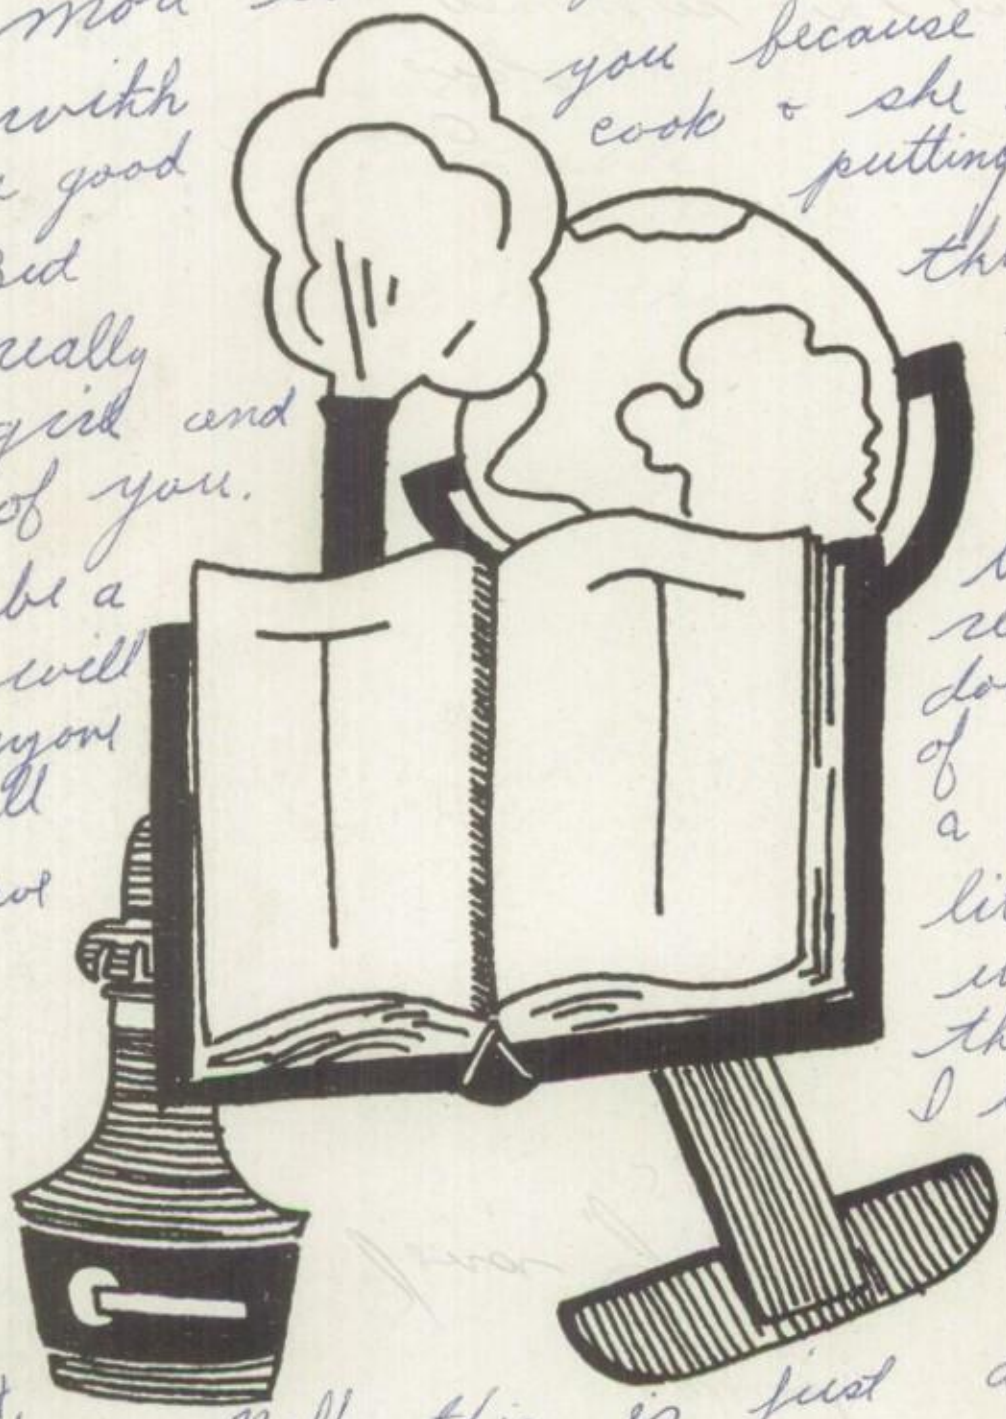
Dave

Dear Diane,

Well, here you are at the end of your four years of high school, two years of which I have felt very happy to occupy. I sure have had many good times with you and hope to have many more. I have enjoyed every minute I have spent with you and hope to spend many more with you. I sure have enjoyed going with you because your mother is such a good cook & she really feeds me good. Bid putting all kidding aside I really think you are a swell girl and I know you will of you. big hit at Indiana and be a really go over big with will everyone down at old I.U. especialy all of the "boys". I hope you have a good time and also learn a little something. I will be working at my new job by then so probably for Uncle Sam and I won't be able to run down and take you home at night.



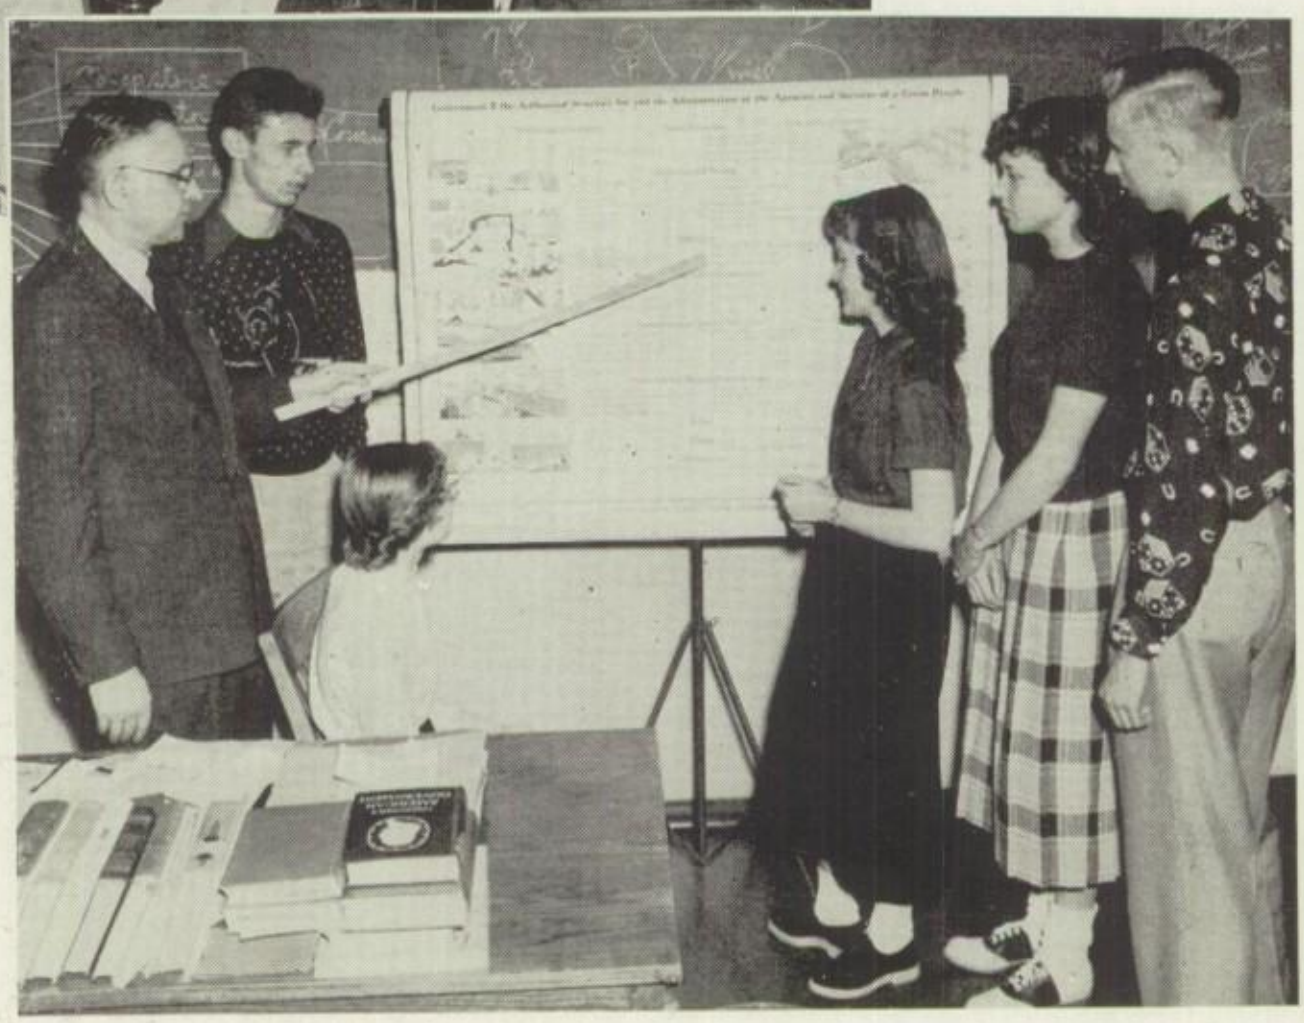
Well this is just about the end as I am coming to the end of the page. I have surely enjoyed writing in this book as I forgot to last year. I guess this is the end and I only want to tell you how I feel about you - I hope nothing will happen in the next four years to change my mind about you.

Love,
Dave

CLASSROOMS

North's Greatest Attention Is Placed . . .

A knowledge of the basic fundamentals is necessary for the successful life of the student. The duty of the classroom is an important one, for it must instruct the students in these fundamentals. School subjects gain greater importance when they teach the lessons of the society of life. The classroom completes its tasks when it trains the students to meet the ever present problems of life. Its voice plays a vital part in the goals attained by North Side.



On The Building Of Students' Characters

TYPING

Knowledge of keyboard techniques is fundamental for careers in the stenographic field, besides giving students insight into the procedure of business. Graduates, turning from the role of student to wage earner, find that business education is helpful and often vital in the securing of a desirable position. Typing is extremely valuable also to the student intending to continue his education beyond high school.

CLERICAL PRACTICE

Streamlined office procedures are necessary in modern business. The business department of North Side is continually striving to give its students a firm foundation in fundamentals of business practices. Armed with this knowledge, Redskins are prepared to progress, confident of their abilities and eager for success. A quick, informed mind; agile fingers; desire for accomplishments—all are factors in business efficiency and success.

-Diane-
Well, kid we have come a long way together and now its coming to a end, but Diane I do hope we can always remain the best of friends, always. We really had some good times together these last four years and I will never be able to forget it. I want to wish you all the luck in the world.

Through Teaching The Basic Fundamentals

ENGLISH

English instruction at North Side provides a broad background in the elements of self-expression and appreciation of good literature. Students learn the essentials of effective writing, besides the pleasures of reading poetry, drama, and short stories.

HISTORY

"The past is prologue." Knowledge of the past leads to understanding of the present; applications of history's teachings guide our future as citizens. Current events train in the student an inquiring mind, preparing him for intelligent voting.

DRIVER'S TRAINING

The soaring rate of traffic fatalities each year produces problems and tragedies. Driver's training in high school has been considered an effective preventive, and through careful instruction, the importance of courtesy behind the wheel is emphasized.

FOREIGN LANGUAGE

The study of foreign languages aids the interpretation and complete understanding of our own English language. Through this study, we become familiar with other countries, thereby increasing the understanding that is so vital to world peace.

As Well As Stressing Vocational Studies

SOCIOLOGY

In addition to history, the social science field includes sociology, economics, and civics. These subjects present man and his relation to his environment in all aspects. Students are made aware of the everyday problems in modern life.

MATHEMATICS

Mathematics provides valuable training in solving problems through logical thought, besides opening wide the doors of scientific advancement. With mathematics, students begin their preparation for careers in medicine, engineering, and science.

SCIENCE

In science the student is encouraged to question the characteristics of nature, universal laws, and the past methods of exploring the unknown. Through keen observation and careful thought, Redskins learn of the wonders of God's creation.

BIOLOGY

Still in the field of science, biology and botany aid the student in perceiving the minute organisims that make up plant and animal life. Physical geography, in its study of the earth's traits, reveals more of nature's secrets to the inquiring mind.

You really have been sweet, if ever we ~~if~~ don't get along once in awhile. I hope you don't forget me and all our good times together and please write to me once in awhile to let me know how things are working out. Lots of luck to you and Don and I hope to see you this summer

Luv ya!

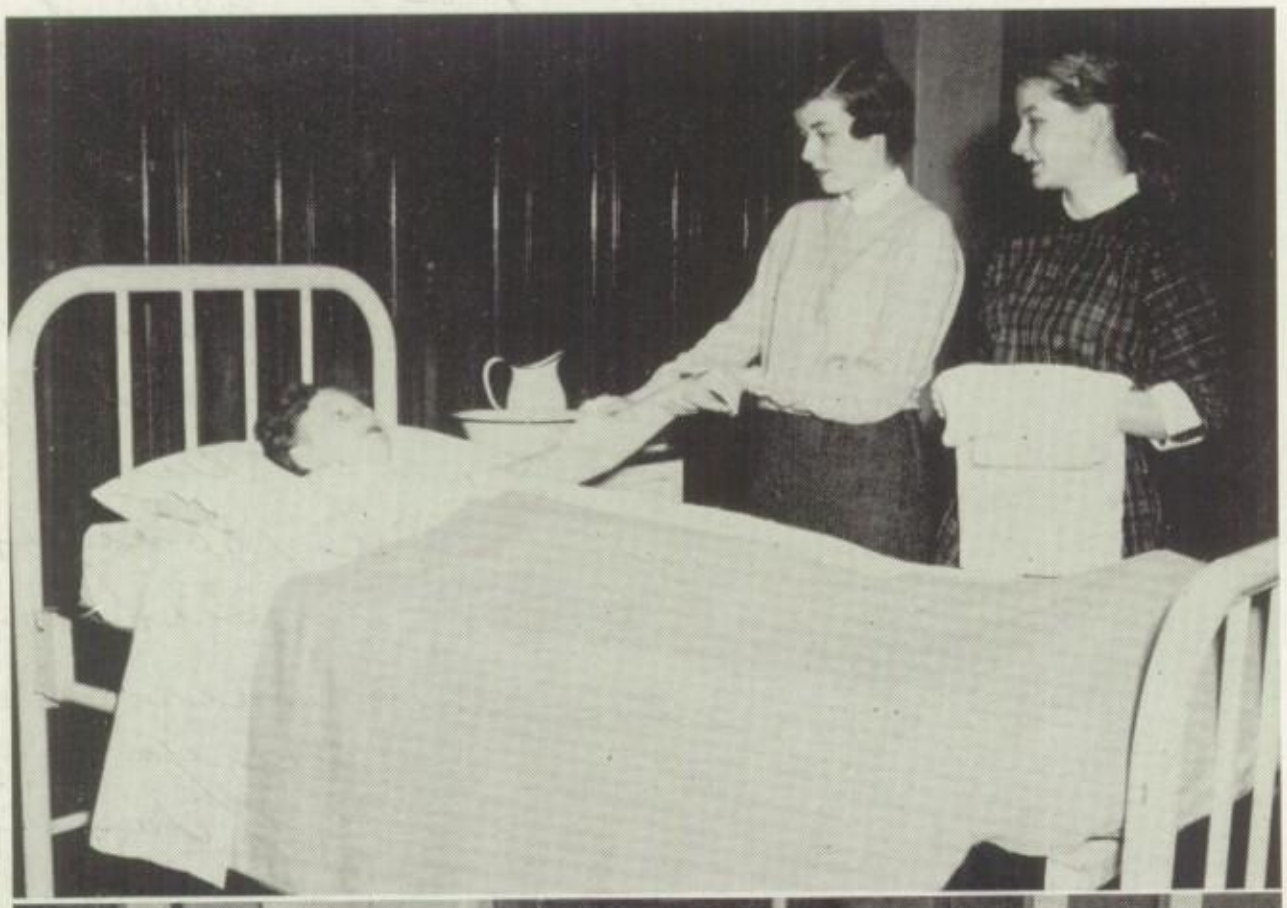
A Wide Curriculum Offers The Best In



HOME ECONOMICS

An essential and practical area of study is that of home economics, which assists the girls in fulfilling the requirements of being good homemakers. Training in domestic skills is supplemented by a family relations class, a course of utmost value to the future homemaker.

WOOD SHOP

Mechanical and manual talents are cultivated in this area of the industrial arts department. Utilizing supervision and facilities, students develop skills in the use of machinery and tools, realizing the adaptability of wood as a craft and building material through practical experience.

METAL SHOP

The industrial arts prepare students for many phases of engineering, instructing them in the principles and skills of mechanics. Metal work is the background for the machinists of the future, training them to use and build with products of the blast furnace.

Opportunities

MUSIC

One of the greatest aids to culture that we students obtain in our high school days is our understanding and appreciation of music. At North Side we not only get a theoretical background but also practical training. Chorus, Girl's Choir, Training Choir, and A Cappella give choral training and lend harmony to the voice of North Side.

ART

"Self expression through the medium of art" — this might well be the goal of North's art department as students develop abilities and create for themselves. A course in art appreciation lays the foundation for work with a brush, a chunk of clay, or a handful of wire. Some like the realistic approach, while others take to the abstract.

LITERATURE

Modern literature is thoroughly explored in English 7. This course gives a comprehensive study of short stories, poems, one-act and full length plays. The important devices used in writing plays are illustrated through the production of several dramas. Student produced and directed plays give everyone in the class a chance to be an Alfred Lunt or Lynn Fontaine.

ADMINISTRATION

Principal
Milton H. Northrop

Mr. Northrop is the man who guides the voice. For twenty-six years he has watched the classes come and go, helped them with their troubles and praised them for work well done. "Pop" was always there to give us friendly advice; his "Good morning, North Side!" gave us the feeling of really belonging to the Redskins, and started the day off right. Mr. Northrop is a cornerstone of North Side, his ideas linked with the founding fathers and those who fill the halls today. During his last year, as all the others, he has guided us to our goals. It is to Mr. Northrop, whose strength, sympathy, and understanding have helped so many, that we dedicate the 1953 Legend.

Superintendent
AARON T. LINDLEY

With a new man at the helm of the public school system, a steady rate of progress has been achieved. Mr. Aaron T. Lindley came to us from Lafayette, Indiana, and has been doing an excellent job. Mr. Lindley has proved himself capable of handling well the many problems which confront him. We are looking forward to his continued success.

Dean
VICTORIA GROSS

Miss Victoria Gross is the person who smoothes over our little problems. With a keen sense of humor and sympathetic understanding, she helps us see things in their true perspective, and aids us in making many important decisions. She counsels on everything from our freshman problem of finding our way around the Big Dome to the senior question of which college to attend. She keeps the files for every student who enters the doors of North, and can call most of them by name. Miss Gross also acts as chief nurse. A friend to all, her office is a center of activity for the entire school.

NORTH SIDE P-T.A.

Always important to a school is a hard working Parent-Teacher Association, and North had just that this year. Heading the group were, left to right, Mrs. C. G. Erb, treasurer; Mr. Clifford Ott, second vice-president; Mrs. Fred Stellhorn, president; and Mrs. Howard Ackley, secretary. Mrs. William Willcutts, vice-president, was absent.

They Make Our School Life

North Side welcomes a new member to our faculty this year. Mr. Hinga is a former Redskin, graduating in 1942. He is an excellent basketball coach and has definitely shown us his ability in this past year. His development of team work has been a big asset in our many victories.

A friendly atmosphere and welcome greets our new superintendent, Mr. Lindley, as he attends the first faculty tea held in his honor. We didn't know our teachers could have so much fun, especially at the beginning of another year.

Mrs. Lillian Graham, a dependable helper to every Redskin, busies herself with unending tasks of being secretary to our Big Chief. She answers questions, assists in conflicting programs, and solves numerous other student problems. Another tedious task is that of answering the inquiries of a great number of telephone calls each day.

More Pleasant

Miss Helen Bean, our able cafeteria head, performs many duties each day that are unknown to Redskins. Her job is the most important one of planning endless menus for students at the Big Dome. Along with this planning goes the ordering and buying of foods, and general supervision of the cafeteria. She also teaches Home Economics and Family Relations classes. The capable members of Miss Bean's staff should not go unmentioned. Their co-operation proves to be very helpful in the daily routine at North Side.

Appreciated but often overlooked are the janitors. These loyal friends have the continuous task of seeing to it that our school's appearance is presentable. They frequently put in extra hours to make repairs that could have been avoided if more school respect had kept someone from defacing walls. Their assistance is invaluable around the Dome.

Top — Miss Helen Bean makes one of her many daily phone calls. Her duties consist of ordering choice foods for the cafeteria menus, keeping order during lunch hours, and buying supplies or new properties for the cafeteria.

Our Scholastic Leaders

Phyllis Schuelke and Myra Schaffhauser were named the scholastic leaders of the Class of 1953.

Phyllis leads her class as valedictorian, while Myra's outstanding record qualifies her for salutatorian.

These girls have excelled not only in scholarship, but also in leadership, courtesy, and school spirit. Both are members of the National Honor Society.

Seniors View Past And Look To Future . . .

We Chose Our Officers

The Class of '53 was ably led by its outstanding officers and advisers. Seated are Don Sanders, social committee; Mary Lou Hoover, vice president; Pete Noble, president; Pres Brown, secretary-treasurer; and Dan Peternell, social council chairman. Standing are Pauline Micu, social committee; Mr. Rutherford Smuts and Miss Judith Bowen, advisers; and Ann Moriarty, social committee.

Right — All dressed up in their graduation robes signing a friend's Legend are Vanice Hagerman, Lois Bullerman, Barbara Lohman, and Dot Bishop.

Four Year Honor Roll Lists Top Seniors

This year's honor roll is one of the largest in the history of North Side, percentage-wise. Twenty-five seniors were named to the honor roll by Principal Northrop at the National Honor Society's banquet in April. Also, Robert McCormick won honorable mention for his honor grades during his one year at North. The four-year honor roll is as follows:

Ronald Ackley
Phyllis Arick
Dorothy Banks
Phyllis Berlin
Barbara Bilger
Bette Bingley
Patricia Castle
Judith Chaney
Sylvia Heistand
Lois Jensen
Ann Lancaster
Richard Loudermilk
Richard Menge
Pauline Micu
Ann Moriarty
Carol Ramp
Myra Schaffhauser
Norma Scharlach
Phyllis Schuelke
Nancy Shepherd
Mary Lou Smith
Donald Stearns
George Thoms
Virginia Tomkins
Rose Worden

Hi Diane
Well this isn't going to be a real long page like last year, but I want to wish you all the luck in the world Diane, I've really had a lot of fun being with you. This summer you'll have to come up to our cottage. I don't know exactly what to say, except that I think your 4 years of high school have gone awfully fast. I hope when you get in college you won't forget me. You write to me in college. Well I gotta go. So
Best of luck always.

Seniors Lead Student Council

The Student Council serves as the connecting link between students and faculty at North Side. Leading the Council activities for the year was president Richard Menge. Assisting Richard were Cynthia Cantelon, parliamentarian; Alan Rolland, sergeant at arms; Jo Ann Springer; secretary; George Thoms, treasurer; and Pauline Micu, vice-president.

Class Of '53 Sets Outstanding Record

The leading tone in the voice of North Side has been the class of 1953. With Pete Noble at the helm, the senior class has proved itself as it provided the necessary leadership at the "Big Dome." Their senior year has been rich and full of experiences that will enable them to be better citizens.

They arrived as green papooses; they will graduate as chiefs and chietains who have learned all that they can in high school and are going out to seek new fields of learning.

Their life at the Teepee began four years ago when they first reported to their homerooms after losing their way in the halls a few times, of course. Homework and getting acquainted took up most of their time until they made their first social debut at "Winter Wonderland." Don Sanders, the freshman prexy, led the class in this event.

As sophomores, under Pauline Micu, the class feted the new greenies at a party called "Holly Hop." Their Junior Prom, "Sweet and Lovely," gave each junior a chance for fun and romance. Parties 'til early in the morning and picnics on Sunday climaxed a perfect weekend. The prom and other class and club projects gave the second classmen a sense of responsibility. Max Stackhouse led the class wisely and helped it gain the reputation of accomplishment.

As seniors the class of '53 has added to this reputation. To begin their final year, they elected Pete Noble president of the class. Helping Pete lead the class were many outstanding seniors. Mary Lou Hoover, Vice-President of the class, was also chosen D.A.R. best citizen.

Pauline Micu is another girl who has taken an active part in school affairs. Co-editor of the Legend, and vice-president of Student Council, she was also on the social council. The other social council member was Ann Moriarty. Ann proved her abilities by serving on the Student Council, as Activities Editor of the Legend, president of F.T.A., and vice-president of Helicon.

Leading the Student Council for the year was Dick Menge, who also served as master of ceremonies at the Senior Banquet and was elected to National Honor Society. Another officer of Student Council was Cynthia Cantelon, who also served as co-editor of the Legend, president of Red Cross, and high school reporter for the Journal Gazette. George Thoms was elected president of the National Honor Society, and treasurer of Student Council.

With these leaders, the class of '53 has forged ahead, keeping its record of outstanding ability. The senior play, "The Man Who Came To Dinner," was a hilarious comedy starring Ronald Ackley. Next on the list of successful activities was the Senior Banquet. A Redskin theme was cleverly carried out by the social council; food and programs made a big hit with the seniors. The big chiefs put on one of the outstanding pep sessions of the year, using a Yell-O-Meter to get results from the student body.

For weeks the wittiest seniors worked on the plot for Senior Day, and everything from the Senior Will to the skit was a howling success. But the events that made the seniors realize that high school was over were Recognition Day and the Commencement Dance. On Recognition Day their achievements were applauded for the last time. Then came the dance. Soft lights, a boy in a white dinner jacket, a girl in a lovely formal, and dreamy music made the poignancy of their last dance very real. Finally those long awaited diplomas were theirs, and the student leaders of yesterday became the national leaders of tomorrow.

Senior Poll Names

Twelve outstanding seniors were chosen by their classmates as the leaders in school activities. In the upper left hand corner are Tom Murphy and Mary Lou Hoover. Tom must have just told Mary Lou one of his famous jokes. Tom, that six foot four inch sports star who is always smiling, was chosen the most popular boy. Mary Lou, vice-president of the senior class, and the gal who made the "Crawdad Song" famous, was chosen as the most popular girl and the best girl citizen.

Voted best actor and actress were Ronald Ackley and Dorothy Banks. Ron had the leading role in the senior play and generally kept himself in the public eye through his inspired piano playing. Being secretary of A Cappella keeps Dorothy busy, but she still had time for a fine supporting role in "The Man Who Came To Dinner."

Most Outstanding

One of our sponsors, Miss Bowen, seems quite happy to see the end of another day; no doubt she's going out to join the gang at Sandy's. Miss Judith Bowen has constantly aided the senior class, and has helped to put over many big projects.

At home behind the lectern, Cynthia Cantelon gives a speech before the student body. Cyn had a major role in the Senior Play; her funny foreign accents over the P.A. had nothing to do with her election as best girl speaker. The best boy athlete is grinning Pres Brown. Pres, an outstanding football and basketball player, and co-captain of the basketball team, has played a big part in our many victories. Nancy Sue Powers, the best girl athlete, has been president of G.A.A. These are the students who have done the most for the betterment of North Side, and they will be long remembered by their classmates and the school.

Climbing up the steps with a smile is Don Sanders. He and that cute gal on the right, Melba Born, were chosen by their classmates as the most courteous boy and girl. Below Don is the president of Student Council, Dick Menge, who was chosen best boy citizen. The voting took place before he kept us in stitches as master of ceremonies at the Senior Banquet.

That man with the hacksaw who's looking at you big and bright is one of our favorite guys, and incidentally one of the class sponsors, Mr. Rutherford Smuts. Below, are those two well informed, always-on-the-go seniors who seem to find time to be in almost every activity, George Thoms and Pauline Micu. They were chosen the two most likely to succeed. George was also voted best boy speaker.

Our Last Year Was Filled With Friends,

"Oh, my aching feet," exclaims Pat . . . Phyllis agrees. Pauline seems to be getting up in the world . . . on the shoulders of Tom and Preston that is. Larry and Pete watch the beauty treatment of . . . guess who? Seniors wait patiently to get in dance . . . Jane, Pat, and Bob are already there . . . Ann straightens Dan's tie . . . Lou, Diane, and Karen discuss the day's deeds . . . Marlene and Gloria let loose . . . Ron, Larry, and Jane rehearse lines for the Senior Play.

Fun, Foolishness . . . Work And Study

Bob and Max smile for the birdie . . . Carl and Gene do some sweet harmony . . . Don, Dot, Nancy, and Tom demonstrate what we learn in school . . . Barb doesn't seem too happy about going to class, but Cyn and Jo are all aglow . . . Dave Ross plays "Sugarfoot Blues" . . . Jim doesn't mind studying with Norma, Nan, and Rose to help him . . . Jack, Sue, Ann, and Doug tell Meridith that it's more fun to eat this way, but he seems skeptical . . . Harry gets to Rita's locker just in time to walk her to class . . . Myrna and June stop for a drink.

Juniors . . .

Two events highlighted the junior year of the class of '54. One of the most outstanding girls in the class, Jean Cour, was elected president. Tom McComb served as vice-president, and Jack Bradshaw as secretary-treasurer of the class. Social Chairman, Barrie Delp, and his committee of Natalie Martin, Nancy Poling, and Norman Armstrong were responsible for the success of the Junior Prom, "Penthouse Serenade." Hal Kern's band played amidst beautiful girls, and handsome boys.

The juniors began to hold their own at the Big Dome; their opinions were increasingly important as they became leaders. Their pep and enthusiasm lent verve and spirit to the voice of North Side. Their representatives on the reserve and varsity basketball squads added needed balance and power.

Outstanding members of the class began to receive recognition. Gail Weismer, Norm Hessert, and Nancy Poling put out the Northerner every week. Barrie Delp was elected president of the City-County Council of the Junior Red Cross. Debby Hacker kept up her good record in speech, and Gladys Morrell received regular solo assignments in A Cappella. Tom McComb formed his own band, and gained a fine reputation around Fort Wayne. One word describes these juniors — Outstanding!

Top Center — Through the ideas and helpfulness of the class advisors, Mrs. Nusbaum and Mr. Purkhiser, the Junior class will be long remembered.

Bottom — Mr. Thompson's room, 138, received honors for having the highest scholastic record of the Junior class and received a plaque from National Honor Society.

Those stiff March winds kept them inside a long time before they enjoyed the visit. Senior Gene Zirkle seems to be expressing a vital point as junior Natalie Martin looks the other way. She's usually more attentive, according to Gene anyway. They're the couple in the lower right in case you haven't guessed.

Sophomores . . .

Another outstanding class has completed its second year under the Big Dome. Last fall the class of 1955 chose Bob Platt as its chief executive, with Jim Ford, vice-president; Bill Townsend, secretary-treasurer; and Bob Sanders as social chairman. Serving on the social council were Judy Bash, Gail Goodwin, and Don Chambers. Mr. Sinks and Miss Marie Miller were chosen as class advisers for the year.

The class' leading activity was the sponsoring of the annual Freshman-Sophomore party, "Lollypop Hop," which was held in December. Lollypops were sold by members of the class during the day of the party. With each purchase, the person received a number. The lucky number won a huge five pound lollypop.

Pep sessions come and pep sessions go, but one will be long remembered by all Redskins. The pep session was under the direction of Diane Schlatter. The skit was a take-off on a TV program, with Sonny Duemling, Bill Lee, Sharon Tew, Guy Strong, Jean Miller, and Lolly Luhman a few of the participants.

Just entering for another big day under the "Dome" are these members of the class of '55, Virginia Wedler, Ann Bouillet, Jean Miller, and Nancy Leinninger, all familiar faces around North Side.

"Lollypop Hop," the Sophomores' dance for the freshmen, took a lot of planning and work. Here the class' advisers, Mr. Sinks and Miss Marie Miller, work with the members of committee in charge of the affair.

Each year National Honor Society presents a plaque to the homeroom of each class who has attained the highest scholastic average. Miss Marie Miller's homeroom was tops grade-wise among the sophomores this year.

Freshmen . . .

Another year, another set of greenies getting lost in North's circular halls, buying tickets for the elevator, and looking for the swimming pool on the third floor. But it wasn't long before they knew their ways around and were as true Redskins who ever entered the portals of the "Big Dome."

Since new freshmen would be entering North Side in January, and since class members needed a chance to become acquainted with each other, the election of freshman class officers was not held until March. But when election time rolled around, the greenies acted as real veterans when it came to campaigning.

Bob Meister was elected president of the class of '56, with Mary Poe being chosen vice-president, and Dewey Senger, secretary-treasurer. Neil Lantz was named chairman of the social council; and Sandra Todd, Bob Anderson, and Hugh Glock were chosen members of the council.

After the elections, the officers promptly chose Mr. Charles Clark and Miss Irene Miller as their sponsors, to help and guide them in their projects.

The class of '56 appropriately started some new trends to set North Side on a new quarter century of change and progress with a bang! Instead of the traditional freshman class party, members decided that a picnic would be twice as much fun. So a picnic it was, held at Franke Park with everyone comfortable in casual clothes.

Yes, this class of 1956 looks like another fine, aggressive group. It should do some big things during its stay at North, and this past year indicates it is on its way!

Members of the social council and the advisers get together for a class meeting. Despite the smiles, there is serious discussion going on between Bob Anderson and Hugh Glock, standing, and Miss Irene Miller, Mr. Charles Clark, and Sandra Todd.

Like most freshmen, Julia Mueller, Dick Snyder, and Gwen Meyers discovered early that Sandy's is one of the greatest places around for having fun.

Class leaders get together for a conference. Neil Lantz, social chairman; Mary Poe, vice-president; Bob Meister, president; and Dewey Senger, secretary-treasurer; talk over frosh business.

Members of the honor homeroom stand proudly behind the plaque they won for lots of hard work. Miss French and homeroom 125 seem mighty pleased with the proceedings. Miss Bowen's homeroom, 129, won the plaque the second semester.

Dear Diane,

Well, I'll get this done if that funny Mrs. Bridges lets us have the whole period. Hope she does. Anything to get out of this period. Anyway it's been fun knowing you these four years. and we've especially had fun this Senior year. Even though you're leaving us — Boo Hoo! — I hope we can all get together when you and Karen come home for vacation. It's been really neat rodding around Halli and what about our fits at the dance — ies. Never forget those. We've had fun all year at Shawnee, too. Think of all those funny conversations we had there. Hope people didn't think we were to crazy or anything. Of course we act that way most of the time. Thanks for the grand slumber party you had. It was really loads of fun. Maybe we can have some more in the future. It's been fun hearing about all the "jiggy" boys we have. Of course, I'll never forget the night you & I saw Jan & John at Lou's. Naughty, naughty. Sorta neat, us feeling what!! (would fill a book.) It was fun, anyway. But I don't think John appreciated it. Now, when you come back from college, we'll all get together and you have to be the cook. You have to bake a pie (chocolate) and fry some chicken and we'll just have a feast. Then we will do the dishes. Course, if you make too many, we'll just toss them out. No kidding, Di, we've had loads of fun and I sure hope we have fun in the future. I wish you all the luck possible in college and with Dave. Be sure to have fun and write to us all. We'll come up & see ya!! More fun. Well, I best say so long for now. Be good & have fun. Love ya always

Molly

Gridders Show Promise Under New Coach

The 1952 edition of the North Side grid machine ended its season with most of the games chalked up on the wrong side of the ledger — however, they did capture the admiration and firm support of their Alma Mater, as they fought for victory to the closing gun of every game.

The record, which was one win, seven losses, and one tie, by no means does justice to the Tribe, as they ran into tough competition in the rugged N.I.C. schedule.

Dropping their first game to the Elkhart Blue Blazers by one touchdown, the Redskins proceeded to drop three more conference games to LaPorte, Michigan City, and South Bend Adams. The "Cowanmen" then made their initial City Series encounter a good one by skinning Central's Tigers for their first victory of the campaign, but fell to South Side's Archers the following week.

After breaking even with Central Catholic in a last minute thriller, the Red and White closed its season by losing to South Bend Central.

The boys on this year's team who will graduate are Pres Brown, Don Huston, Kay Houtz, Tom Murphy, Byron Pierce, Ralph Rodenbeck, Dick Sive, and Dave Riley.

Dick Sive fumbles in the hard fought C.C. game. The game was marked with vicious tackling by both teams as the defense of both teams stalled many a tochdown march. The game ended in a 6-6 tie.

Netters Prove Tough

The 1952 tennis season proved to be the most successful one in years for the North Side netters. The racqueteers placed fifth in the Northern Indiana Conference, winning four matches and losing four. Following the regular conference season, North defeated Central Catholic by a score of 4-1 in a regularly scheduled game.

Coach Arthur Rhoades is contemplating a still better season next year, and will have the following lettermen returning: Karlton Holle, Harvey Himelstein, John Williams, and Don Braswell. Carl Rinne, a senior, was elected captain of the 1952 squad.

Rack Up 33 Straight Wins

The "hustlin' harriers" from Teepeland finished their third consecutive cross country season with all conference scores marked up in the victory column, extending their N.I.C. winning streak to 33 meets. However, the "Chambersmen" succumbed to Fort Wayne Central and Muncie Central in non-conference matches.

The 1952 season blessed us with several other honors. The "hill and dale" men brought the Big Dome the titles to the Sectional Championship, Eastern Division N.I.C. Championship, and the East-West N.I.C. Championship. North also ranked eighth in the State meet.

This enviable record of the cross country team has been the typical story of every season since 1929, when track and cross country first originated at North Side, and when Rolla Chambers was appointed to the job of coaching the cinder track and the cross country squad. Later, he was assisted by Coach Don Kemp, former track star from North Side, and together they have turned several of our squads into championship teams.

Head coach Rolla Chambers and assistant coach Don Kemp are expecting another successful season for 1953, as they have several promising boys returning.

Lettermen returning next year are George Taylor, Jim Harford, Charles Snyder, and Dave Bandt; while Coach Chambers will lose the services of six valuable senior lettermen, Bob Dyer, Tom Schmidt, Les Ummel, Bob Powell, Tom Firestine, and Ed Mosshammer.

Athletic Board Guides Extensive Program

Many problems are connected with the managing of athletic activities here at the "Big Dome", and they are dealt with by our capable athletic board. Under the supervision of Mr. Northrop and Mr. Chambers, the board in past years has established a record of which it can rightly be proud.

Assisting Mr. Chambers in coaching duties are Jim Hinga, Bob Cowan, Don Kemp, Bob Edwards, and Bob Traster. Mr. Hinga and Mr. Cowan are both in their first year teaching here, and the boys enjoyed playing under their direction.

Hyrle Ivy instructs the boys' swimming classes, while Leslie Reeves is in charge of all financial aspects affecting athletics.

Much credit should be given these hard working men who combine their various talents and their untiring efforts to make the athletic program the outstanding and successful one it is.

Members of the Athletic Board include, seated, Leslie Reeves, school treasurer, Principal Milton H. Northrop, Rolla Chambers, athletic director. Standing are Don Kemp, track and cross country coach; Robert Cowan, head football coach; Jim Hinga, head basketball coach; Bob Traster, assistant football and basketball coach; Bob Edwards, assistant football and basketball coach; and Arthur Rhoades, tennis coach.

Third row — Dick Fox, Harry Maxkay, Douglas Boschet, Byron Pierce, Terry Keener, Terry Day, Dick Prentice, Chris Jensen, Ellis Shirley, Harvey Baker, and Larry Hall.

Thinliclads Shine Again For 'Big Dome' In 1953

The lightfooted thinliclads from "Teepeeland" went into the 1953 campaign in their usual fine form, defeating the Culver Cadets in their season's opener by a score of 55-37, regaining the N.I.C. indoor crown which they lost to Elkhart last year at Notre Dame, and setting a new state record of 8:32.4 in the two mile relay race during the Hoosier Relays at Indiana University. Other important events included the North Side Relays, the East-West N.I.C. finals, and the sectional and state meets.

Excelling in the 100 yard dash again this year was state champion, Bob Ewing. Bob also mastered the 220 again, in which he had previously ranked fourth in state. Helping Bob carry the load in the sprinting events were Jack Vore and Doug Boschet. Dick Kowalczyk, Mick Smith, Leonard Snyder, and Jack Mossburg took care of the quarter-mile run, while the 880 was handled by lettermen, Tom Schmidt, Ed Mosshammer, and Dave Bandt, and a new-comer, George Taylor.

Head coach Rolla Chambers and assistant coach Don Kemp go over the statistics on the Hoosier relays held at Indiana University in March. Their hard work and determination show up year after year as track teams from the "Big Dome" gain state-wide recognition.

Bob Ewing, state champion in the 220 yard run, tries the starting blocks for a practice start at Northrop Field. Bob has sparkled brighter than ever in his final year at North Side.

Top — Leonard Snyder and Dick Kowalczyk witness a smooth demonstration as Milton Smith passes the baton to Bob Powell. These were our relay men.

Center — Up-up-and-over! Charley Lyons displays his winning form in high jumping as Pres Brown and Gary McAfee look on. Both Pres and Gary are also high jumpers.

Bottom — Running the hurdles for the Redskins this year and doing a fine job were, left to right, Cliff Dunton, Tom Murphy, and Jim Long.

Regain N.I.C Indoor Crown

Coach Rolla Chambers had some fine lettermen back this season to represent the Redskins in the mile event; they were Jim Harford, Bob Dyer, Les Ummel, and Charles Snyder. All performed well for coach Chambers again this year.

In the hurdling department, Tom Murphy, Cliff Dunton, Gary McAfee, and Jim Long handled the chores in both the high and low hurdles. A goodly number of the Tribe's victories this year hinged on the ability of these hurdlers to bring home the blue ribbon.

Turning to the field events, Ron Thomson, who placed fourth in the state meet last year, came through again with flying colors in the broad jump. Back this year, too, was big "Babe" Pierce tossing the shot put, while Pres Brown and Larry Stotle also gave the event the old "college try" this year.

The other field events, the high jump and pole vault, found jumpin' Charley Lyons, and seniors Pres Brown and Gary McAfee carrying the Red and White for coach Chambers and the "Big Dome."

Grab Hoosier Relay Honors

Although several boys will be leaving North Side after this season, coaches Rolla Chambers and Don Kemp have a good nucleus to build around next year. Running the dashes will be Jim Wright, Jack Vore, Jim Long, Doug Boschet, and Ron Slater, a new and promising sprinter. All of the 440 boys will return, including Dick Kowalczyk, Charles Snyder, Bob Powell, Mick Smith, and Jack Mossburg. Dave Bandt and George Taylor will handle the half mile, along with two new prospects, Ron Derrow and Morgan Thomas.

In the mile, Paul Plumber and Chris Jensen have excellent possibilities, and will be in the company of returning lettermen Jim Harford, Charles Snyder, Wayne Bauer, and Eugene Evans. In the field events, Charley Lyons will handle the high jump and pole vault, assisted by Ron Trowbridge, Dick Esterline, and Dewey Senger, all promising boys; Larry Stolte will hold down the shot put position.

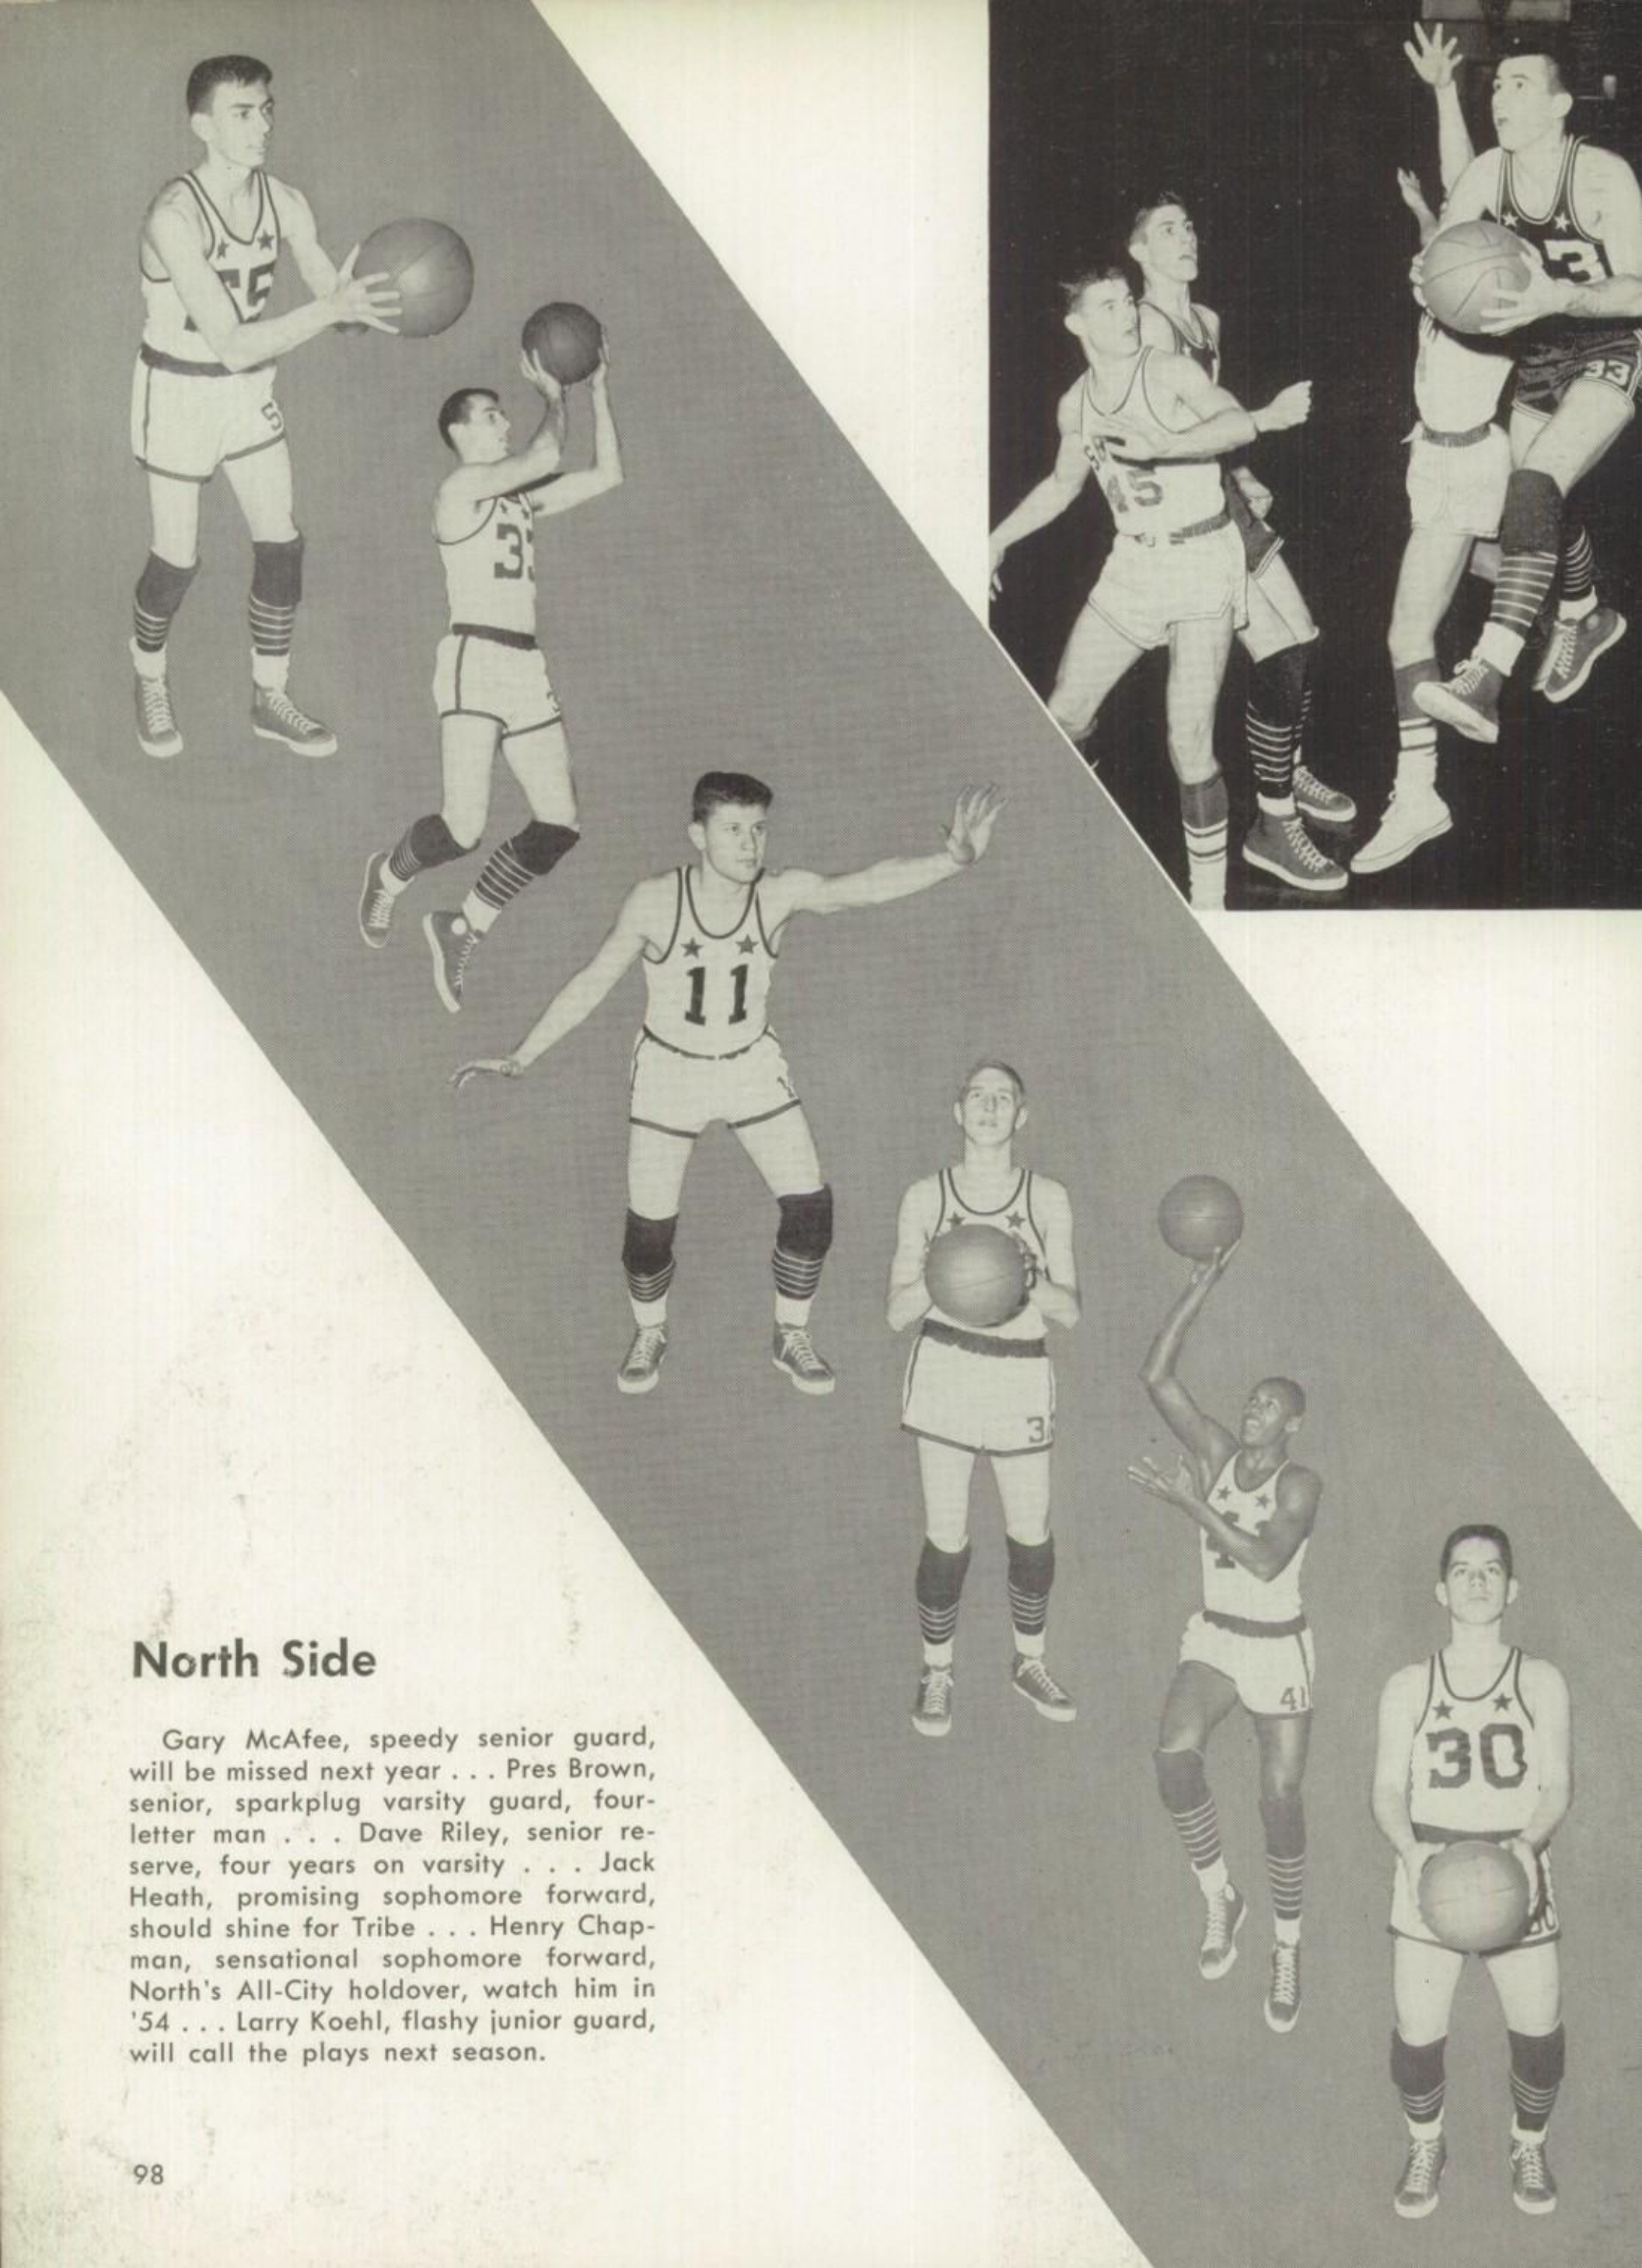
Center — Long distance men, Tom Schmitt, Dave Bandt, and Ed Mosshammer, take a warm-up jog around the cinder track.

Bottom — Jim Wright, Jim Long, and Bob Ewing await their turns for a practice start as Cliff Dunton "gets set."

Below — Performing in the mile run events for the Redskins this year were, in front, Eugene Evans, Bob Dyer, Jim Harford. Standing are Les Ummel, Charles Snyder, and Wayne Bauer.

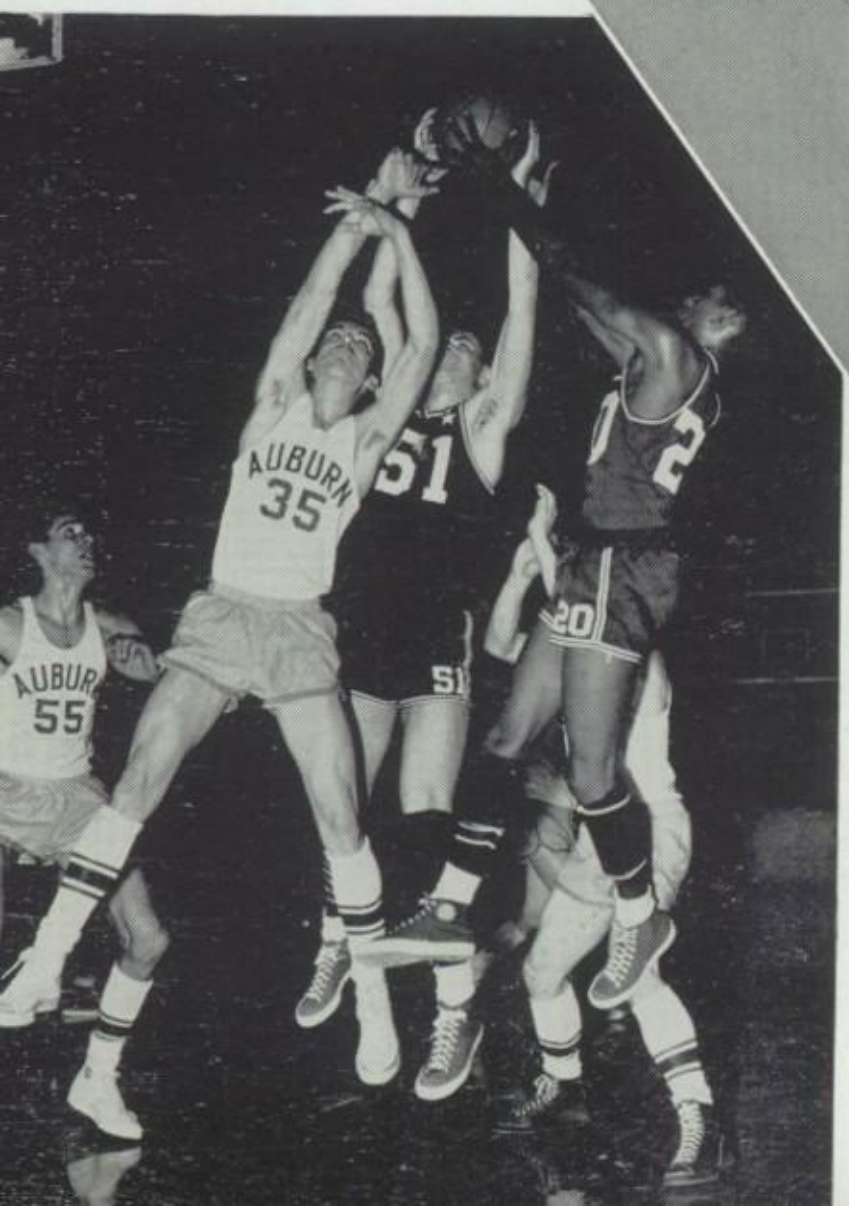


North Side

Gary McAfee, speedy senior guard, will be missed next year . . . Pres Brown, senior, sparkplug varsity guard, four-letter man . . . Dave Riley, senior reserve, four years on varsity . . . Jack Heath, promising sophomore forward, should shine for Tribe . . . Henry Chapman, sensational sophomore forward, North's All-City holdover, watch him in '54 . . . Larry Koehl, flashy junior guard, will call the plays next season.

Redskins . . .

Dean Baughman, fine sophomore ball handler, looks good to Hinga . . . Ron Aldridge, capable sophomore pivot man, will take over for Murph . . . Tom Murphy, senior center, ends his fourth hardwood season in a blaze of glory . . . Don Sanders, senior reserve forward, always in there fighting . . . Charley Lyons, terrific sophomore forward, key to fast-break combination . . . George Taylor, tricky soph guard, should have great future.



Top — Assisting the players and coaches through the various sports seasons were student managers John Clifton, Dick Young, Gene Zirkle, and Dean Zirkle.

Bottom — Coaches Bob Traster, Jim Hinga, and Bob Edwards take time out from their coaching duties to talk over the prospects for the coming season.

Cagers Post 17-7 Record, Win City Championship

Championship playing, expert coaching, and superior cheering proved to be the main ingredients which produced a spectacular winning season of 17 victories against 7 losses for the Redskins from North Side. The "hoopmen" ended the regular season of play with a 14-6 record, and went on to win their first three sectional tilts before dropping the final game to Central, 53-49.

The significant fact concerning the regular season, however, was not that it resulted in another typical winning year for the Redskins; but there was a completely new athosphere around the "Big Dome" which affected the players, students, and teachers. Taking over the reins of the basketball squad was Jim Hinga, former varsity man from "Teepeeland." With the material which had been considered only average before season play commenced, Coach Hinga built one of the smoothest and most well balanced teams we have seen at North Side.

The "Hingamen" captured the City Championship by winning all of their city series clashes.

Hinga Views Future Bright

Playing their last season in Redskin uniforms were Pres Brown, Tom Murphy, Dave Riley, Don Sanders, and Gary McAfee. Brown, playmaker and excellent assist man for the hardwood five, and "Murph," who led the squad in scoring and rebounding, were co-captains for the season and were both selected for the All-City team.

Monopolizing the sports page headlines for the '52-53 campaign were Henry Chapman and Charley Lyons, sensational sophomore forwards, who not only greatly contributed to the victorious season, but make future years look very bright. Chapman possessed the highest average scoring mark per game, and was voted to the All-City team. Lyons, together with Larry Koehl, the only junior on the squad, displayed most of the team's speed, especially on fast breaks. However, Larry was noted chiefly for his fancy dribbling and ball stealing. Both Lyons and Koehl were selected to the All-Sectional team.

Besides Lyons, Chapman, and Koehl, next year's Redskins will have the assistance of Roland "Bama" Aldridge, Dean Baughman, Jack Heath, and George Taylor, all sophomores.

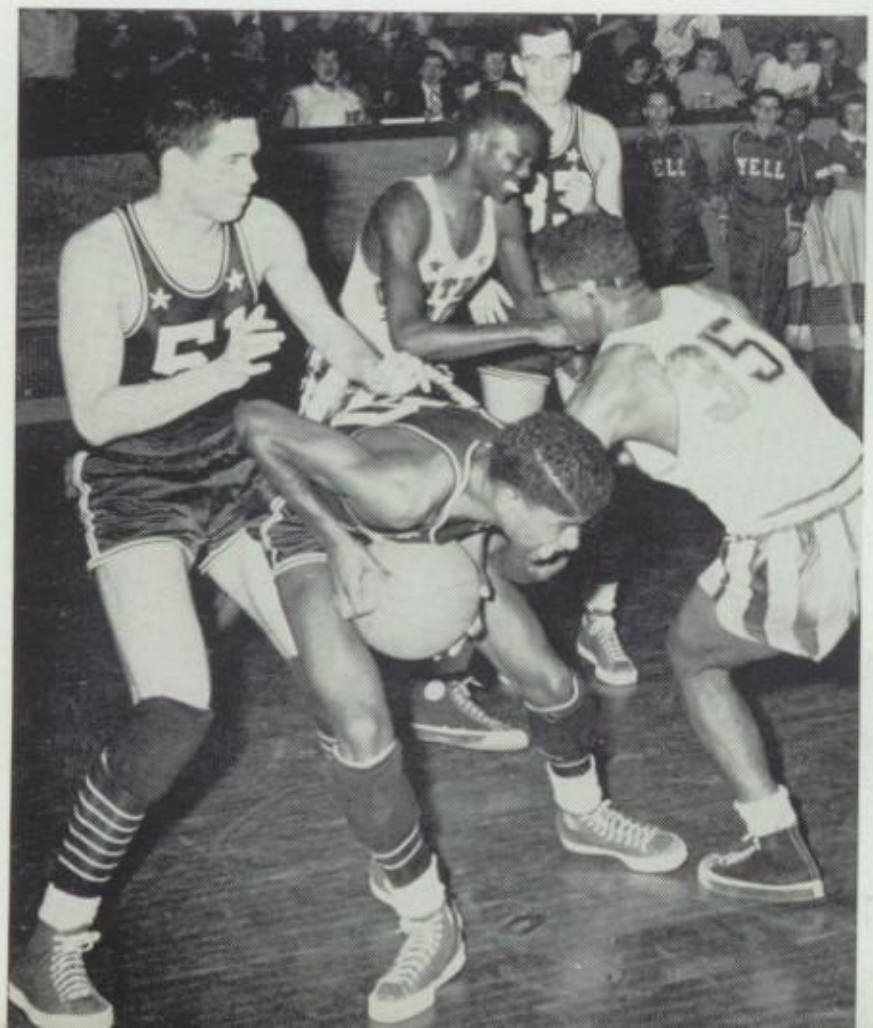
Things look mighty bright for Coach Hinga and the "Big Dome."

Top — Aldridge, Chapman, and Sanders vie with four South Bend Washington players for a rebound in North's 65-49 win over the Panthers.

Center left — Murphy scores a lay-up as the Tribe fought a classy S B. Riley five Center right — Lyons goes high into the air to score in the same tilt.

Bottom — Tom Murphy picks up his third foul as he and South's Jack Kern collide in the second period of North's 58-55 double overtime victory over the Archers. Pres Brown and Larry Koehl seem to be surprised at the call.

Below — Lyons fights for ball in the Redskins' 59-50 upset victory over Central after the Tigers led 35-21 at halftime.



Reserves

As a result of a spectacular 15-4 record posted by the North reserves during the '53 season, the future looks very bright around "teepeeland." However, the main factor which boosts our hopes is that the majority of the team members were sophomores.

On top in the season's scoring column were George Taylor and Jack Heath, and with the able assistance of their team mates, they were able to sink such powerhouses as South Bend Riley, LaPorte, Michigan City, Goshen, South Bend Central, and Fort Wayne Central to mention a few.

Keeping pace with the tradition of the "Big Dome," the freshmen Reds came through again during the 1953 season, posting an enviable record of 11 wins and 4 losses. Coached by Bob Edwards, the boys put on several exhibitions which seem to indicate that another typical Redskin team will evolve from it.

Boys Develop Physically

Every boy at North Side, whether he is capable of playing on any varsity team or not, has an opportunity to perform in various sports activities. Physical education classes are held three times a week, and they cover several fields of physical development.

During the past year, our physical education system has been greatly improved, and we were aided with two new instructors, Jim Hinga and Bob Cowan. With the assistance of Don Kemp and Hyrle Ivy, these teach our "men of tomorrow" the correct fundamentals of good physical development.

Among the many activities carried on this year were volleyball, track, basketball, wrestling, tumbling, softball, and swimming.

After each sport was played about two or three weeks, a test was given on rules and procedure. Also, physical endurance tests were given at the beginning and end of the school year in order to "group" the boys.

Hand in hand with the physical education program went intramural basketball, also known as "Noon League." Altogether, about 220 boys participated in this activity. The league was divided into two divisions, boys weighing under 140 pounds played in the lightweight division, while those over 140 pounds entered in the heavyweight class. There were nine lightweight teams in the league, while fourteen heavyweight teams entered in the other bracket. The season extended from December 1 to March 15.

Each team played one game with every other squad in its branch of the circuit. With approximately nine players on each team, most of the boys saw action during the season.

The captains who piloted the "Noon League" squads were Ed Warsaw, Allen Carpenter, M. Schinbeckler, Jim Palm, Bob Ewing, Dan Peternell, David Solomon, Lynn Harp, Jim McGarry, Pat Plank, Louie Seibt, Bob Hieber, Jim Frye, Bob Anderson, Jim Luellen, Jim Jeffries, Don Tappy, Lee Kammeyer, Bob Roschy, Dale Zirkle, Bruce Heine, Earl Pontius, Jerry Harter, Jerry Hueguenard, Dick Plumb, and Dan Popp.

The intramural league was supervised by Bob Cowan, and it proved to be the most successful season since it has been practiced at the "Big Dome."

G.A.A. Offers Activities

The Girls Athletic Association, better known as G.A.A., is composed of sports-loving girls who have these three-fold ideals —health, loyalty, and sportsmanship. G.A.A. gives the North Side sportswomen an excellent opportunity to express themselves in sports, make friends, and have fun.

Besides all the activities that G.A.A. sponsors, there are also many social activities that the girls enjoy. Among these are the formal initiation potluck, a dance, freshman get acquainted party, a Christmas party, and the big spring banquet which is held in May.

At this event, all the officers for the coming year are announced, and everyone enjoys seeing all the alumni who come back to this banquet. Awards that the girls have earned through the year are also given at this time.

For Sportsminded Girls

Any G.A.A. girl having earned 150 points is given her class numerals; a letter goes to any girl with 250 points to her credit. To the girl with 350 points, the State Plaque is awarded. In the history of North Side, there has been just one girl receive her plaque.

The sports calendar for G.A.A. is also packed with many activities for the girls to enjoy. The first sport of the year is volleyball, with a six to eight week practice period leading up to the big tournament at the end of the season.

Tennis, badminton, swimming, bowling, track, tumbling, softball, archery, and basketball are also offered for the girls to enjoy throughout the year. Basketball is always the most attended sport of those offered. Many girls turn out for this sport, and so when the tournament time rolls around, it is always quite a looked forward to affair.

None of these events could function correctly if it were not for G.A.A.'s two very able sponsors, Miss Spiegel and Miss Carroll.

Top right — One of the favorite sports in the fall is volleyball. The girls are eager and play a rugged game. Over fifty girls participate in this sport each year.

Bottom right — With the coming of spring comes the "stick" and "sphere," and softball reigns supreme. Here Pat Nussel gets ready to take a wicked cut.

Left — Point recording is a very important part of G.A.A., because membership in the club and various awards depend upon the number of points each member has earned. Therefore, point recording must be done accurately, and here are the girls who have done the job so well this year; left to right, Ruth Blakesley, Ann Traster, and Jackie Nash. G.A.A. president, Nancy Powers, looks on. Incidentally, these four girls composed the winning badminton team of the year.

To Develop Bodies

A group of girls who were interested in swimming got together this year and formed a group known as the "Ripplettes." They worked hard to develop routines such as Helen Akins and Pat Castle are doing here. There are two other girls in the water, as the legs behind Pat indicate, who are just beginning a loop through the water. Miss Spiegel coached the girls.

A goodly number of freshmen girls developed an interest in G.A.A. this year, and by mid-semester these had enough points to become members. Front row— Pat O'Connell, Nancy Weber, Marilyn Bell, and Barbara Holycross. Back row — Delores Kensill, Jean Hyndman, Beverly Ruffing, Kay Loudermilk, Olive Rutledge, and Joan DeTurk. There were more who were absent when this picture was taken.

When "Hoosier Hysteria" hits late in the fall, girls aren't immune; they don their gym togs and take to the "wide open courts" for a fling at the hoop. Under the supervision of Miss Carroll, one of G.A.A.'s sponsors, the girls play basketball three days a week after school. Alternate nights offer such activities as bowling, badminton, and archery.

And Coordination

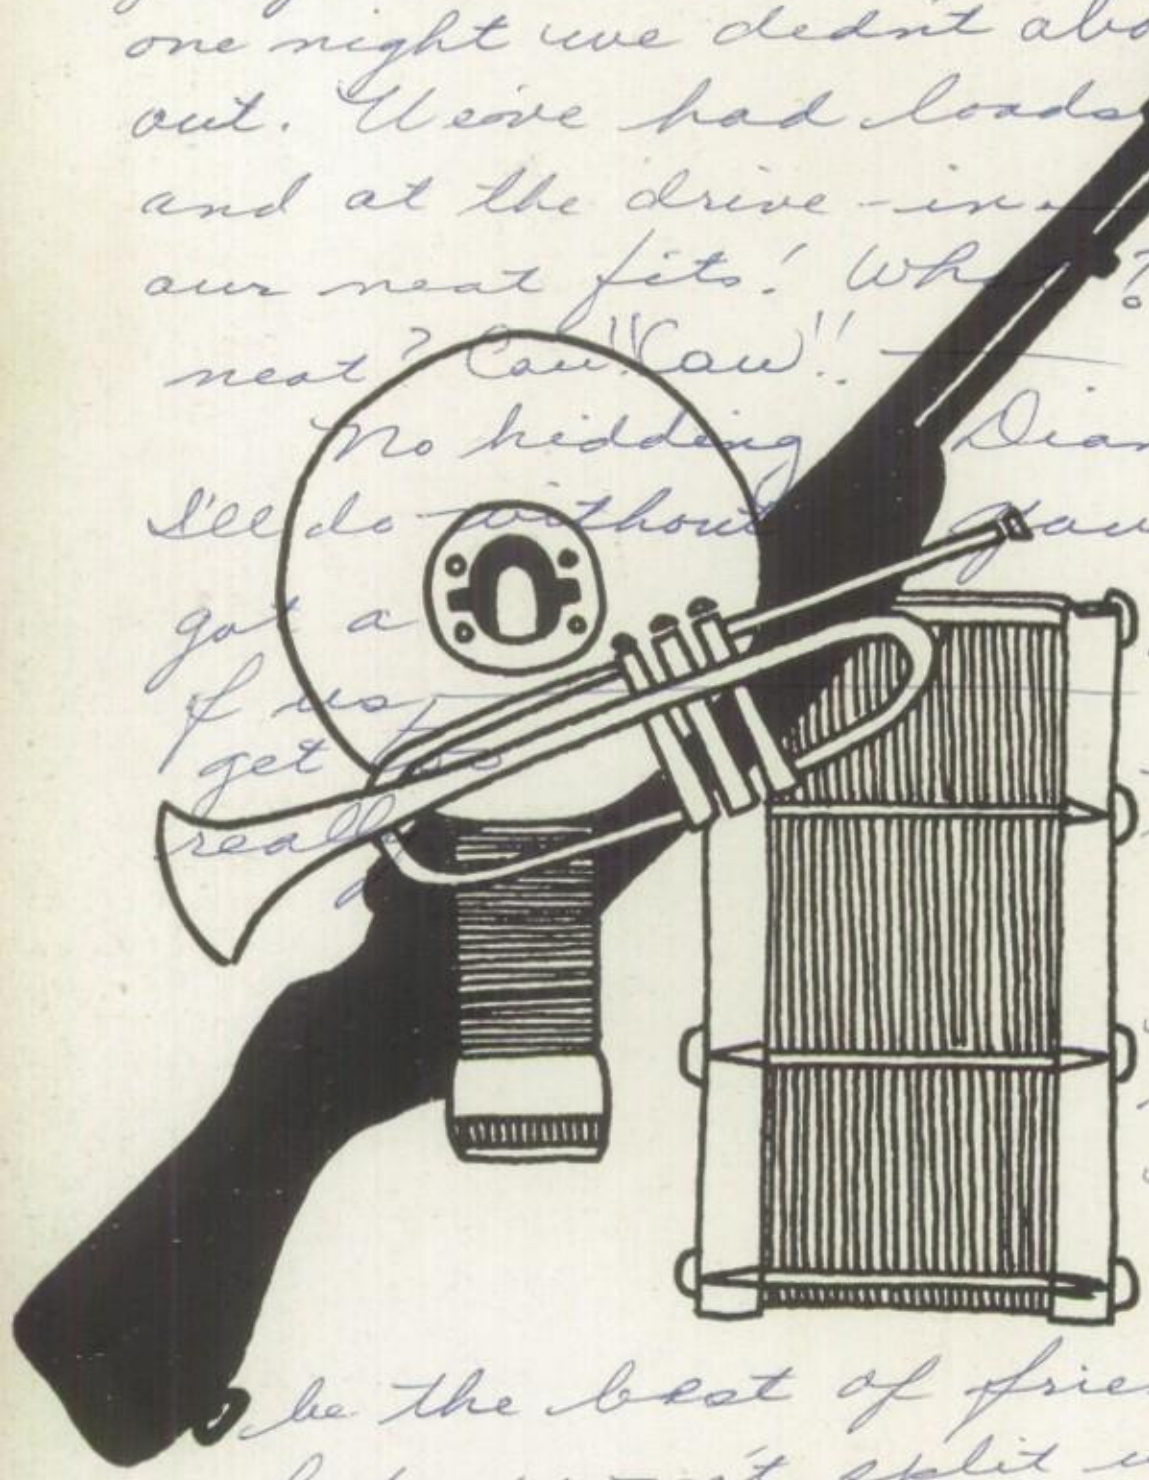
When the "twang" of a bow gets into your blood, you're usually thought of as an archery enthusiast. A few of the girls who enjoy a shot at the bull's eye are Phyllis Crabill, Judy Hollenbeck, Kay Loudermilk, and Marlene Hostler. During the winter months the girls shoot in the gym, but when the weather gets nice, archery becomes an outdoor sport.

A new activity was added to G.A.A.'s repertoire this year, that of bowling. When a group of girls expressed an interest in "spilling the maples," Miss Spiegel, the club's other sponsor, helped them set up a program whereby they bowled every Tuesday after school at the North Side Recreation Center. Here Shirley Bender and Sue Stockhamp approach the foul line with every bowler's dream, all down for a strike.

Bowling proved very popular this year, and will no doubt attract many more girls next winter. Shown figuring the scores, which some think should be an activity itself, are Mary Ann Harrison, Judy Meyers, Nancy Powers, Ann Traster, Gaynol Marsh, and Jean Hyndman. The girls ended their bowling around the middle of February.

Afternoon Erbie,

Who said that? What!! Well, Diane, here we are in our last week of school. I'll never forget all the fun we've had together. Our last four years have been tops. I'll never forget your neat slumber party. I believe that's one night we didn't about knock each other out. We've had loads of fun out to Hall's and at the drive-in — especially throwing our neat fits! Wh— ? Who said they were neat? Caw! Caw!!



No kidding Diane, I don't know what I'll do without you next year. We've got a great time ahead if we don't get [illegible] that is, if we don't really [illegible] homesick. I'll miss you!! Don't forget I want you to come up to see me at L. F. sometime if you can make it. I know we'll always be the best of friends and I hope the future won't split us up. Oh yes, Diane, I forgot to tell you how neat it is to see you when you're on a date. Of course I am refering to the time I sat behind you & Dave at the Paramount — Remember? (I know a girl who knows how to write - I don't)!! Don't forget the laughing!). And thanks for all the expressions I've picked up after you. ha!

Well, Diane, I've practically run out of space and I haven't even told you

Booster Members Back Team And School

Whenever the team or cheerleaders need new uniforms or equipment, they head straight for room 212, homeroom of Mr. Noel Whittern. Mr. Whittern is the adviser of Booster Club, one of the hardest working organizations at North Side. With money earned from the sale of refreshments at the games, the Boosters bought new red and white corduroy uniforms for the cheerleaders.

When the team needs backing at out-of-town games, the Booster Club rents a bus, fills it with howling Redskins, and sends it off on the warpath to cheer for the team. At this time, the voice of North Side is especially loud, resounding with school spirit and excitement.

The members of Booster Club are the first to arrive at all the games and the last to leave. Their concession stand keeps the spectators filled and happy, and earns money to carry out the clubs outstanding projects. Booster Club strives to increase school spirit and good sportsmanship and keep everyone backing the team.

You are really tops!! -and a wonderful friend.
I'll never never forget

Hard Work Pays Off In Points And Fun

In order to be an active member of the club, a Redskin must be at least a sophomore and have earned twenty-five or more points through work on Booster projects. These projects include all the behind-the-scenes work that is so necessary to a large service organization. This year the club gave small red and white pom-poms to every student who attended the sectionals, and presented each member of the basketball team with a picture of the complete team.

In 1953 the club had more than forty-four members. Officers for the first semester were Carl Messerschmidt, president; Betty Wagner, vice-president; Barbara Carter, secretary; and Marlene Schwen, Student Council representative. The leaders of Booster Club for the second semester were Carl Messerschmidt, president; Marlene Rearick, vice-president; Edna Keeney, secretary, and Lu Ann Matthews, Student Council representative. These students and Mr. Whittern have led this club through a year of service to North Side.

You privileged kid - the only one I am writing 3 pages to - but that's cause your so terrific. Be good, Diane, and the very best of luck in your every endeavor. I'm looking forward to the next times ahead of us - Bye for now - Love, Karen

Future Teachers of America

A visual-education program has highlighted Nor-Gro Club meetings this year. The Future Teachers of America Club has tried to survey the opportunities for occupations in various fields. The aim of the club is not only to guide prospective teachers into entering the educational field, but also to help students who are undecided about their future vocation.

Social activities such as a Christmas party and the after game dance, "Star Dust," sparked the club calendar. Nor-Gro also served as host to the officers of the Muncie High School Future Teachers Club.

Leading Nor-Gro for the fall semester was president Lois Jensen. Assisting her were Pauline Micu, vice-president; Melba Born, secretary; Sylvia Heistand, treasurer; Pat Foreman, social chairman; Karen Slater, membership chairman; Ronald Ackley, publicity chairman; Bette Bingley, historian; Barbara Briggs, research and records chairman; and Laura Rice, parliamentarian.

Bette Bingley, with the aid of the adviser, Mrs. Mary Ann Chapman, guided the club through the spring semester. Bette's cabinet consisted of Ann Kittinger, vice-president; Gladys Morrell, secretary; Charlotte Young, treasurer; Mary Lou Hoover, social chairman; Marilyn Smith, membership chairman; Beverly Winans, publicity chairman; Karen Slater, historian; Ronald Ackley, research and records chairman; and Sue Walborn, parliamentarian.

To a cute little (?) gal I used to call "Twirpy"; Best of luck in everything you do. Don't work but I'm glad to be through with it! P.S. — How bout you?

Red Cross Club at North Side is devoted to service. To further its work, the club joined with other Red Cross clubs throughout the county to form a County-Wide Council. This group sent Cynthia Cantelon to the Eastern Area Training Center as its delegate, and she was elected president of the center. The club put on a weekly radio program at the V. A. Hospital, visited the County Infirmiry, and packed gift boxes for overseas. They also sponsored a dance entitled "Jail Break," where the girls broke with convention and asked the boys to dance.

Officers for the first semester were, president, Cynthia Cantelon; vice-president, Don Sanders; secretary, Peg Clark; and treasurer, Gene Lamson. Mary Jo Shaffer led the club the second semester with Barrie Delp as veep, Ann Lancaster as secretary, and Sonny Duemling as treasurer.

Representatives to the County-Wide Council were Mary Jo Shaffer, Cynthia Cantelon, Lolly Luhman, Diane Schlatter, Sonny Duemling, Gene Zirkle, and Barrie Delp. Barrie was elected president of the council and will be sent to the national Red Cross Convention in Washington, D. C.

Parmi Nos Amis

In the French Club, Parmi Nos Ami, a broader knowledge of the French people and their customs is obtained as the students participate in the plays and special reports.

The club sponsored a dance and helped to furnish the guidance office. A joint picnic and Christmas party with the other language clubs have always been yearly events. The celebration of the Mardi Gras was the most spectacular event.

The faculty adviser is Miss Frances Plumanns. Leading the club the first semester were Barbara Bilger, president; Jane Moore, vice-president; Gail Bowman, secretary; and Adrian Roschy, treasurer. The second semester officers were Nancy Poling, president; Ann Beierlein, vice-president; Natalie Martin, secretary; and Dave Ross, treasurer.

Globetrotters

The purpose of Globetrotters is explained in the name of the club, for social science students literally "trot the globe," discovering interesting facts about people and their government. Mr. Harry Young and Miss Katharine Rothenberger, the club's advisers, guided the group on its Indianapolis trip, the highlight of the year's activities. Open to all upperclassmen and social science students, the trip was a real experience in government for many.

Leading Globetrotters for the fall semester were Phyllis Schuelke, president; Alice Ward, vice-president; Juanita Zerby, secretary; and Dorothy Banks, treasurer. Serving as officers for the second semester were Dorothy Banks, president; Natalie Martin, vice-president; Sylvia Heistand, secretary; and Norma Scharloch, treasurer.

For all photography enthusiasts, Camera Club is the answer to a prayer. The purpose of this club is to teach members how to take, develop, and enlarge pictures. Many types of cameras are used in this work. Members also learn to manipulate the many different kinds of projectors. Anyone interested in photography is cordially invited by the club to share its good times and many experiences.

This year the club sponsored a movie in the auditorium. The money received from this project was spent for a definite purpose. New equipment, which is most essential for the school, was purchased.

The Camera Club, under the direction of Mr. Dayton Musselman, elects officers for the entire school year. Bob Schwartz presided over all meetings; the other officers were Jim Lane, vice-president, and Phil Crabill, secretary-treasurer.

Junior Classical League, a national organization, is open to all advanced Latin students who are translating Cicero and Virgil. With maps and books on hand, the members learn the customs and ways of life of the Roman's ancient world. The purpose of the club is to encourage students in classics and to increase the study of advanced Latin.

The special activities for the year were the joint dance, "Tinsel Tangle," the Christmas party, and the picnic in the Spring with the French and Spanish Clubs.

The faculty advisers are Miss Judith Bowen and Miss Lorraine Foster. The first semester officers were Ron Ackley, senior counsul; Juanita Zerby, junior consul; Carol Ramp, scriba; and Pat Powell, quaestor. Leading the club the second semester were senior consul, Ron Ackley; junior consul, Eleanore Weikart; scriba, Juanita Zerby; and quaestor, Howard Massey.

Polar-Y

Polar Y stands as a symbol for friendship and Christian service to all girls who are associated with it. The object of the club is to widen the growth of Christian character. Members of Polar Y are taught to uphold the ideals of friendship, service, Christian character, and leadership. Membership is open to every girl at North Side.

Miss Lorraine Foster and Miss Geneva Burwell are the capable advisers of the club. Officers for the first semester were Rose Worden, president; Debby Hacker, vice-president; and Mary Ann Harrison, secretary-treasurer. The second semester officers were president, Mary Ann Harrison; vice-president, Charlotte Young; and secretary-treasurer, Judy Connin.

"Hoop De Doo," Polar-Y's dance with Hi-Y, was just one of the many events on the social calendar. Christmas caroling, cheering the hearts of many, highlighted the winter events; while the "Mother-Daughter Tea" was an important date in the Spring. The traditional "Tournament Twirl," co-sponsored by Young Woman's Christian Association, affiliated with all public high schools, was held after the last sectional basketball game. The selling of North Side stationery and Christmas cards added to the activities.

Programs of Polar Y were always both inspiring and interesting. Special services were held to mark Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Easter. The Senior Farewell climaxed the club's activities for the year.

Hi-Y Club Builds Boys' Characters

Boys who are interested in developing good character have available an opportunity to join Hi-Y. The ideals and purposes of Hi-Y are well described in the club pledge, "To create, maintain, and extend throughout school and community, high standards of Christian character.'

The members worked hard with Polar Y to present the successful dance, "Hoop De Doo." In addition to this project, the officers also attended the annual Hi-Y Regional Conference. There they heard prominent speakers and were able to get more ideas for their local chapter.

The club is advised by Dayton Musselman, and leading the club this last year were Clifford Dunton, president; Jack Davis, vice-president; Norman Napier, secretary-treasurer; and Doug Cunningham, social chairman.

A Cappella Puts Song In Students' Hearts

A Cappella members carry a song in their own hearts and are thereby able to transfer this song into the hearts of their audiences. This year the choir has presented a Christmas, Lenten, and Outdoor Concert as well as the operetta by Gilbert and Sullivan, "The Pirates of Penzance." One of the highlights of the concert series was an exchange program which was given at Warsaw High School.

Under the direction of Mr. Raymond Beights, the A Cappella Choir has tried to educate as well as entertain their audiences by performing the best in choral arrangements. By offering a variety of choral literature, the various musical tastes have been appealed to.

Orchestra has a different meaning for each of its members. To some it means the acquiring of instrumental skills, while for others it is a form of self expression. Whatever the reason may be, many students at North Side, through exercising their life of music, have gained an inward peace and appreciation of the more beautiful things that will always be a cultural influence. For them the North Side orchestra has meant a great deal. It has been a source of pleasure for more than one student.

The orchestra, under the baton of Mr. Clyde Copeland, has been a source of pleasure not only for its members, but also for the North Side student body. All who have had the privilege of hearing this fine musical group perform at public concerts and student assemblies have appreciated the long hours of practice which stand behind each public performance.

Few listeners consider the amount of practice which goes into one concert. Hours of individual practicing are added to the class time spent in rehearsing. All this time is considered to have been well spent when a musical performance of the highest type is presented for an audience.

Top — Mr. Copeland, director of the orchestra, gives some instructions to the violin section during rehearsals. On the listening end are Steve Perfect, Lois Smith, and Ala Nova Lynch.

Bottom — An important part of any orchestra are the bass violins. These are the students who man the "big fellows" at North Side, Brian DeLisle, Linda Arnold, and Larry Wible.

The North Side band put a note of cheer in the hearts of the basketball, football, and concert audiences this year. Besides providing music for games, concerts, and pep sessions, the Redskin band also furnishes the music for the twirlers and for civic parades. The North Side band is organized for the purpose of producing good listening music for an audience, while at the same time it creates leadership, co-operation, ability, and enjoyment for those interested in band work.

This year groups were again organized from within the band. Participation in these ensembles provided the students with a sense of responsibility as well as furthering their musical education. Many honors were won by these ensemble groups in the Solo and Ensemble Contest. The contest was conducted at North Side for the first time. Music department members and boosters helped to make the affair a success.

Under the direction of Mr. Clyde Copeland, the band's repertoire has broadened, thereby delighting audiences and giving the students a greater knowledge of music literature. Teepeelanders have in their band an organization of which they can be justifiably proud.

North Side Instrumentalists

Dedicated to raising the level of musicianship and improving the mental attitude of the band and orchestra, North Side Instrumentalists performs valuable services for the music department.

In addition to stimulating interest in its members, N.S.I. renders aid in the Annual Music Department Christmas Party and spring picnic. The club has also provided for a plaque that will honor annually two outstanding instrumentalists, one from the band, another from the orchestra.

Membership in N.S.I. is invitational, pledges being selected by the members at the beginning of each semester. The qualifications for membership include genuine talent, ambition, and a cooperative attitude and spirit towards the club and the music department. The pledges of N.S.I., more popularly known as "Spikes," are dilligent workers for the club and the music department. They are obligated, by their consent to become members, to perform services designated by the club members or the adviser. Such responsibilities as keeping instruments and cases clean and in place, and the library of music in order belong to the "spikes."

The pledges of the second semester were Ala Nova Lynch, Nancy Leininger, Jean Miller, Ann Traster, Charlene Nash, Joe Fisher, Jack Biddlecome, Jenean Longsworth, Judy Meyer, and Harold Clark.

The officers who have lead N.S.I. during the past year are president, Paul Grischke; vice-president, Carl Rinne; secretary, Mary Schuelke; treasurer, Norman Hessert; and parliamentarian, Karlton Holle. The adviser of N.S.I. is Mr. Clyde Copeland.

Twirlers Entertain With Flashing Batons

Colorful half-time entertainment has been provided by the North Side majorettes. Redskin fans have been delighted with their performances during the football and basketball season. Vonna Spice, with the assistance of Clyde Copeland, has been largely responsible for the success of the group.

Yell Leaders Put Fight Into Redskins

Appreciation to the cheerleaders is voiced not only by the football and basketball teams but also by the student body. With the help of Mr. Arthur Rhoades, the yell leaders have strived to strengthen and unify the Redskin cheering section. Employing for the first time double cheering blocks which form the letters "N" and "S", the cheerleaders have accomplished much. Leading the preliminary game yelling have been Barbara Kemp, Ann Nickerson, Norma Shipley, and Norma Born . For the varsity games, Sandra Schroeder, Janet Fuhrman, Carole Jimison, and Patty Jo Scott have proven their spirit. One of the most pleasing facts about this year's varsity cheerleaders is that they are all underclassmen. With these veterans' returning, the Redskins are looking forward to an even better yelling season next year.

Nature Club

Life's great open road is a favorite haunt of the nature enthusiasts under the "Big Dome." These Audubons of tomorrow spend hours roaming through parks or on river banks in search of Nature's offspring. Hiking is also a favorite pastime of the members. The Nature Club enables its members to gain a better understanding of the out-of-doors and wild life. These young naturalists have the opportunity to develop interesting hobbies, cultivate a creative interest in nature, and collect materials for research.

The club's meetings are made interesting and educational by the use of nature movies, projects, and collections assembled by the members. This year the Nature Club journeyed to the Frances Slocum State Forest. The field trip afforded the members fun, interest, and also proved educational. The club also makes journeys to the Isaak Walton Club House and grounds located at Cedar Creek.

Nature Club has been headed this year by a group of reliable officers. Dave Burg served as president, while Bette Bingley assisted him as vice-president. Pat Conner, secretary; Myra Schaffhouser, treasurer; and Marsh Hawk, point recorder also executed their duties as officers.

Phy-Chem Club

Demonstrations and experiments are featured at the Phy-Chem Club meetings. The club, under the advisership of Mr. Harold A. Thomas and Mr. M. Sherman Pressler, is open to all students interested in physics and chemistry. The purpose of the organization is to stimulate a greater interest in physics and chemistry. The members are given an opportunity to express their interests and to work with others who have the same aspirations.

In keeping with the scientific atmosphere of the club, the group sponsored the after-game dance entitled "Atomic Waves." Unique refreshments are also an outstanding characteristic of the organization. For example hamburgers prepared over a bunsen burner headed the menu for one of the meetings.

Paul Clifton served as the president of Phy-Chem for the fall semester. Assisting him were Richard Loudermilk, vice-president; Shirley Callihan, secretary; Tom Brown, treasurer; and Bob Schwart, social chairman. Richard Loudermilk assumed the leadership of the club for the spring semester, while Phil Crabill assisted him as vice-president. Other members of the cabinet were Mary Jo Bookout, secretary; Larry Lantz, treasurer; and Shirley Callihan, social chairman.

National Honor Society

The most important honorary society in North Side is National Honor Society, an organization for very outstanding Redskins. To be elected to membership in this society, a student must be outstanding in scholarship and eladership, have good character, and a record of service to the school. Every year members of the faculty nominate students whom they feel are eligible. These nominations are screened by a small committee of teachers who make the final decision.

A National Honor Assembly was called on March 18, when four members of National Honor outlined the ideals of the organization and Mr. Northrop called the roll of new members. Superintendent of Schools Lindley was also present as the new members were pinned by the old members.

The nucleus of this year's organization was formed from the juniors who were elected to the society in 1952. The officers were also chosen from this group. Serving as president of National Honor was George Thoms. Helping him were Dorothy Banks, vice-president; and Norma Scharlock, treasurer. Others who were elected to the group when they were juniors are Phyllis Arick, Barbara Bilger, Bette Bingley, Richard Loudermilk, Richard Menge, Pauline Micu, Ann Moriarty, Myra Schaffhauser, and Phyllis Schuelke.

Seniors elected this year are Ronald Ackley, Ann Beierlein, Phyllis Berlin, Barbara Briggs, Jane Briggs, Cynthia Cantelon, Pat Castle, Judy Chaney, Sylvia Heistand, Mary Lou Hoover, Lois Jensen, Ann Lancaster, Carol Ramp, Don Sanders, Marlene Schwehn, Karen Slater, Mary Smith, Shirley Tompkinson, Sue Walborn, Lou Walborn, Alice Ward, and Rose Warden.

Masque and Gavel

An infant in the family of clubs is Masque and Gavel. This newly organized club has resulted from the combining of the Student Player's Club and the National Forensic League. Masque and Gavel is open to all juniors and seniors interested in speech and dramatics activities.

The members of the club learn how to make better use of the theater, radio, television, and movies as a means of wholesome recreation and entertainment by learning to recognize the good qualities of these fields through the study and active participation in the different phases of these activities. Learning about the opportunities for worth while hobbies which exist in these fields is another aspect of the organization. The club strives to give the students the opportunity to gain a broader knowledge of the history and art of the theater, thereby making it possible to understand and appreciate a variety of art forms.

Mr. James A. Purkhiser supervises the activities of Masque and Gavel. Assisting him is a board of directors consisting of Beverly Winans, Fred Kurtz, Ann Beierlein, Norman Hessert, and Jane Briggs. Nancy Poling serves as chairman of the board of directors.

Although a new club, Masque and Gavel has sponsored many activities for the benefit of the student body as well as for the members of the club. For example the club produced a one-act play program for the entertainment of a Redskin audience. The club itself journeyed to Ball State Teachers College for a demonstration presented there on one-act plays. For the Masque and Gavel meetings, the group hosted outstanding public speakers. Professional radio personnel and Civic Theater actors were also the guests of the club.

Junior Forensic League

Junior Forensic League is open to all freshmen and sophomores interested in speech activities. The purpose of the club is to promote better speech techniques and a greater interest in speech among underclassmen.

Lolly Luhman presided over the club for the fall semester with the assistance of Miss Irene Miller, adviser. Other officers were Ann Bouillet, vice-president; and Nancy Cowan, secretary-treasurer. Officers for the spring semester were Bill Lee, president; Ancenetta Hooper, vice-president; and Nancy Cowan, secretary-treasurer.

Los Sodales

La Sociedad de Alumnos Espanoles, or more familiar to us as Los Sodales, is the group that fosters interest in the Spanish language, people, and lands. The events throughout the year proved interesting as well as educational to Los Sodales members.

The first semester's activities were led by Marilyn Roembke, president; Sue Tenny, vice-president; Carol Noll, secretary-treasurer; and Chloe Lyon, social chairman. For the second semester, club members chose Laura Briggs, president; Lolly Luhman, vice-president; Pat Fleming, secretary-treasurer; and Sandra Burry, social chairman. Miss Marie Ehle is the outstanding adviser of Los Sodales.

Helicon Club

Helicon Club is one of the most outstanding organizations at North Side. Not only do the members gain a cultural background, but also the programs provide much entertainment.

The theme for the first semester was "Short Stories." Panel discussions were held and many stories dramatized to make enjoyable programs. Members participated in the skits and radio programs the second semester to fit in with the theme, "Radio, Television, and Movies." The November program was highlighted by a pot luck dinner at the home of Carl Rinne.

The very successful dance, "Tackle Tumble," was sponsored by Helicon. The Christmas service project was a party and program for the adults of the Allen County Infirmiry. Students added to the Christmas spirit by distributing gifts to all, and Santa Claus, magnificently portrayed, climaxed the party.

North's Washington Day assembly was another of the many events sponsored by the club. The Spring Tea and the farewell to seniors were the last two affairs of the school year.

The able advisers are Miss Mildred Huffman and Miss Mabel Greenwalt. Officers the first semester were Dan Peternell, president; Ann Moriarty, vice-president; Jean Cour, secretary; Pete Noble, treasurer; and Natalie Martin, social chairman. Second semester officers were president, Carl Rinne; vice-president, Ann Beierlein; secretary, Debby Hacker, treasurer, Jack Bradshaw; and social chairman, Jane Briggs.

Rifle Club

Position! Aim! Fire! Students around the Big Dome are accustomed to hearing these shouts and the firing of rifles as the members of Rifle Club strive for the bulls eye. The Rifle Club, under the able direction of Mrs. Grace Bridges and Mr. Hyrle Ivy, the advisers, is a branch of the National Rifle Association. Students interested in learning how to shoot a rifle are welcome to join. Others who wish to strive for more accuracy also are eager for club membership. Taking advantage of such an opportunity, students receive excellent experience in this field.

The Sportsman's Code is familiar to all members. Promoting better safety measures and safe handling of the guns is the purpose of the club. Medals and other awards are given to the members as they advance in marksmanship. The highest honor given is the Distinguished Rifleman Award.

The officers of the Rifle Club are elected to serve the entire school year. Officers for this past year have been John Hartman, president; Jack Cruse, vice-president; Richard Kensill, executive officer; John Williams, secretary; and Pat Greenwood, treasurer.

Membership in Rifle Club is open to both boys and girls, and many of the "fairer sex" can draw a mighty fine bead.

Students Publish

Every Redskin looks forward to Friday. Friday marks the end of the school week and the beginning of the week-end. The publishing of the Northerner on Friday morning adds to the attractivenes of the day. Friday's Northerner has become as much of an institution at North Side as Mr. Northrop's opening greeting every day of "Good morning, North Side."

Many students have contributed their time and talents in order that a nationally recognized paper might be produced. Under the supervision of Mr. Norman Ballinger, the Northerner has renewed the honors which it has enjoyed in previous years. Such honors as Quill and Scroll's International Honor Rating, National Scholastic Press Asociation's All-American Rating, and the Columbia Scholastic Press Medalist Award have been received by North Side's publication.

The students have given freely and have been amply rewarded because of the fine reputation which the Northerner enjoys. Heading the publication staff for the first semester was Gale Wiesmer, publisher. Norman Hessert aided Gale as assistant publisher. Others on the Northerner staff were Nancy Poling, managing editor; Janet Fuhrman, feature editor; and Mary Lu Minyard and Jean Barker, co-news editors.

Editor Gale Wiesmer instructs reporters Rita Koch and Dave Boxley in pasting articles on the dummy for the next edition of the Northerner.

Jack Koenig, Ann Lancaster, Barbara Bogenschuetz, and Carlene Hansen are readily improving their typing skills while meeting a deadline, that important moment for every reporter.

The three hundred mailing orders of the Northerner are hastily folded by Mary Ann Harrison, Ann Bouillet, Donna Fackler, and Shirley Callihan.

Too busy to make eyes at the camera are the typists, Paul Clifton, Nancy Braun, and Rita Koch.

Two managers on the staff, Marilyn Hayes and Jean Cour, know the importance of accurate accounts for advertising.

'The Northerner'

Jim Luellen and Jerry Gaff headed the sports department, while Ann Nickerson served as classroom news editor. Sandra Schroeder directed the business staff as business manager. She served in this capacity for both semesters. Completing the business staff were Sue Marks, circulation manager; Jean Cour, advertising manager; Peggy Clark, exchange editor; and Marilyn Hayes, auditor. Marilyn continued with her position through the next semester.

The appointments for the staff which would publish the Northerner for the second semester were made by the adviser, Mr. Ballinger, at the annual publications banquet. The banquet, which was held at the Colonial Restaurant, was one of the social activities of the year. Mr. Ballinger announced that Norman Hessert would head the paper as editor-in-chief. Assisting Norman were Nancy Poling, managing editor; Janet Fuhrman, news editor; David Burg, assistant news editor; and Sharon Cummins, feature editor.

Others serving on the staff were Jim Luellen, feature writer; Jean Barker, copy editor; Mary Jo Bookout, classroom news editor; and Ann Nickerson, exchange editor. Jerry Gaff directed the sports department with Jack Koenig assisting him. Filling the remaining staff positions were Shirley Callihan, advertising manager; Gladys Morrell, staff artist; and Steve Perfect, photographer.

Janet Fuhrman, feature editor for the paper, points out a few ideas and makes assignments to Gwen Meyers, Armilda May, and Sue Urbine.

Jerry Gaff and Jim Luellen are concerned with the layout of the sports page, one of the most widely read sections of the paper.

The directory and telephone are familiar items to Ann Nickerson and Shirley Callihan, exchange and advertising editors.

The deadline which has to be met is a grim fact to Norman Hessert and Nancy Poling, who headed the second semester staff.

Dave Burg, Jean Barker, and Mary Lu Minyard never lack imagination in writing the many features for the Northerner.

Sandra Schroeder and Marilyn Hayes are busily taking care of the subscription funds after the bill collectors have been on the job.

Circulation manager Sue Marks and Peggy Clark record subscribers' names at the circulation desk.

The Voice Of North Side Will Live On

This 1953 Legend is the work of a staff of sixteen upperclassmen and our freshman photographer, Steve Perfect.

The book was started last June when editors Pauline Micu and Cynthia Cantelon began to put their ideas on paper, and with the help of Mr. Norman Ballinger, a "dummy" was drafted. In September Mr. Ballinger chose the staff, and this 144 page Legend was on its way.

Making up the staff were Barbara Lohman and Diane Erb, senior editors; Sue Marks, circulation manager; Mary Lou Hoover, Lou Walborn, and Sue Walborn, underclass editors; Ann Moriarity, activities editor; Myrna Koelinger, faculty editor; and Carl Rinne was chosen classroom editor.

Mr. Ballinger goes over the dummy with Cynthia Cantelon and Carl Rinne . . . Ann Moriarty, Pauline Micu, and Jean Cour go about their duties as staff members.

Within The Pages Of The 1953 Legend

Jim Koenig was appointed sports editor; Tom Murphy and Jane Warfield, staff artists; and a junior, Jean Cour, was appointed as assistant circulation manager. She will work on the 1954 Legend and has been receiving valuable experience.

The editors went with Mr. Ballinger to the Indiana High School Press Association convention at Franklin College last fall to meet with representatives of different cover companies and choose the cover that would follow our semi-modern theme. We wanted something entirely different, something special, to start out North Side on a new quarter century with a bang.

To make money for the expensive lay-outs and the padded cover, the staff staged a "Signature Dance" at the end of the year to distribute the books and to give everyone a chance to sign everyone else's book.

This 1953 Legend is a record of the 1952-53 school year . . . the fun, the work, the victories, the loses, the games, and all those wonderful hours that made up life under the "Big Dome."

Your Legend is the only permanent record of the voice of North Side; it has been planned with the utmost care to give a true picture of the Teepee in 1953. North Side has never been quite like this before; it will never again be the same, for North Side and your Legend are made up of people who fill the halls every day, from "Pop" Northrop down to the greenest freshman. Here is a history of your year in pictures . . . it is a record of you and your friends.

We have tried to make this book as we thought you would like it; it is with a great deal of pride that the editors present you with the 1953 Legend.

Quill and Scroll, Scribes' Honor Society

Every student with journalistic aspirations works for the day when he is elected into Quill and Scroll, the national journalism honorary society for upperclassmen. Candidates may be elected from newspaper or yearbook staffs if they are in the upper third of their class, and have done superior work in writing, editing, or business management. They must be recommended by the school principal or publications adviser, and approved by the executive secretary of the Society. Five students from North Side were elected to the Society this year. They are, pictured below from left to right, Nancy Poling, Norman Hessert, Cynthia Cantelon, and Pauline Micu. Gail Wiesmer was absent when the picture was taken.

North's 1500 Club is an honorary journalism society for Northerner and Legend staff members who have earned 1500 or more points for their journalistic endeavors. The club has called meetings, and sponsors the journalism banquet in Jaunary. Members of 1500 Club this year included, front row, Karen Slater, Sandra Schroeder, Janet Fuhrman, Jean Cour, Sue Reasoner, Pauline Micu, and Mary Ann Harrison. In the back row are Sandra Coffey, Mary Lou Hoover, Norman Hessert, Mary Lou Minyard, Jerry Gaff, Ann Bouillet, Cynthia Cantelon, Jim Luellen, Jean Barker, and Nancy Poling.

Diane –
Nice knowing each other for several years now but this year
we got to know each other pretty well – We spent a lot of enjoyable hours together at the tion desks. You made it a little difficult for me to do my school work. But I'll always be grateful to you Diane. Mr Anthony & I for all of your constructive advice in my time of support & kind words – You with a strong feeling of encouragement. I shall always cherish my time of utmost pleasure and wisdom which you endowed me so much comfort.

– miss your smiling face around the world – Best Wishes – "Parley" take it easy & all the luck

Diane;
See never forget all the fun
we've had goofing around, etc.
I hope graduation won't end any of it. We'll have to get together this summer when I'm home.
Well Diane, keep of good luck at S.F.
Be real good & take care of you. Sal

Diane –
To a swell classmate!
You're a real neat gal & its
been a pleasure knowing you Hope to see you around in the future. Best of Luck Myrna

Dear Diane =

My truly, wonderful friend = No kidding. Diane, I loved every minute of being with you, but only regret dat time pass so fast - a few short months, and you will be starting more schooling = and without us = Man, this is getting me down - Let's just look to the future with anticipation of even better times - Say, when I get my family of girls, Sue's boys and your mixture of bush all together - what a riot = Here's hoping though we will never forget these memorable times - your tremendous parties, your ms-biles, and thew your most welcome advice = ah love = we have really had some neat conversations! Never will forget those lunches at Shawnee - we even forgot we were there at times when our conversation really got exciting = and our next classes at school = Why, if we were there another year, the teachers would have to find new methods. We would have the answers before they thought of the questions agree? Oh, I just couldn't forget those tremendous games of tag - I wonder if they play "locker tag" at Indiana = Hey Dee! you start it, and I am sure you will have a great following - yep, in whatever you may do for you are really tremendous Diane, and I will never forget you! No - never = Do have fun at college, and I know you have nothing to worry about - you're a success already = Stay as sweet as you are now, and please don't forget that "little ole" girlfriend who really thinks the world of my Diane =

Loves ya always
Lou

Dear Diane!

Hi Doll, Here we are our last Legends to sign — Gee, Diane, don't really know where to start!! We've just had so much fun together, espicially our Senior Year — Remember all the fun we had going to Halls, basketball games, and just messing around! Then, there was that tremendous information desk. A perfect ending to every day of school. Ah yes, can't leave out our beloved Shorthand & typing classes. All those noon hours, our rushing home in that B.W's chevy, our coming home together are just a few of the tremendous times I remember as tops. Diane I'll always cherish these high school memories, only hope our future will hold the same. Say, how about all our Slumber parties. Yours was tremendous Then, I truly dearly love those neat times we've had at our lockers! Gee, Diane it would take just Pages to write down all our tremendous times! I'm gonna miss you terribly about the time Sept. 16 rolls around! I'll be just waiting for those vacations when my dearest friend will come back to her buddies. Trying my best to keep this "theme" gay but really — — Oh!, you know!! Say, its a promise! Lets just laugh on Senior Day and Graduation I'll concentrate on all our neat times!! Another outstanding in our "memiors" is Romance — ah Hem — Really neat? what?? Can't wait till the Senior Prom!! I just know some more neat times!! Sorta neat going to the Drive In in Diane's Blue Mo-bile-o Say, thanks for teaching me to drive!! It was swell of you. — Well, "D" must sorta come to an end of this reminiscing but just remember I'll never forget my Diane!! Just have loads of good times at college, and the best of luck, and just stay the same as you are! Always remember I loves ya!! Can't wait to come to your house after Graduation — Sure will will be another "last" topper of tremendous times - I'll see you loads this summer — Say, can't forget all our neat telephone conversations!! Bye now,

Love Sue

Idi Diane,

Golly, it doesn't seem like it is graduation time already, does it? It sure has been a wonderful four years, and you have helped to make them that. I will never forget our wonderful times in shorthand and typing class, and all the other classes we have shared. Don't let us lose track of each other after graduation. A friend like you should be a life-time friend.

Lots of luck in everything you do! take Care of Dane! 9
